

Democrats Meet Monday To Select Party Head

The ancient two-thirds majority rule of the party may be sidetracked Monday when Democratic State and National leaders meet in Chicago to select the standard bearer. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Al Smith, Speaker Garner, Gov. Richie, James A. Reed and Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray are listed as starters in the race for the presidential nomination.

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Senator Dickinson's "keynote" speech was so full of dynamite that some Republican papers only printed parts of it.

One of Jack Dill's boys is operating the hole-in-the-wall next to Sparks' barber shop and would be glad to sell you popcorn, cold drinks and sandwiches.

The gist of Senator Dickinson's "keynote" speech seems to have been that the world would have come to an end several years ago if Hoover had not been President.

The month of June has been a hot one for certain. A fellow couldn't set down for long spells or he would stick to the chair. Then, again, soap and water come high in these Hoover times.

Not knowing anything of the makings, but being a bystander, we give it as heard. "To a 5-gallon jar use only 2½ pounds of sugar, 1½ pounds of honey, and leave out the yeast. It makes the very best." This must be a cough mixture of some sort.

Every bit of garden truck that can be put up this summer should be canned for winter. The wolf may not howl at your door, but may frighten your neighbor. Be ready to help. Though it now looks as though the drought will wipe out gardens before they come into bearing.

The editor was hustled out of the office hurriedly Monday afternoon to see a sight in a car parked on Front Street. It was a good-looking Oak Park, Ill., girl, smoking a cigarette, her back naked as far as visible, but having a front of some sort tied by narrow strings around the neck. It was all right though.

New parking signs have been put up on Front Street limiting the parking to one hour. This looks like a sensible thing to do and New Madrid Street might have been included. One hour is plenty for any ordinary business to be transacted and gives the next fellow an opportunity to trade and carry goods to car without having to park several blocks away.

My goodness! Senator Borah says Republican Convention policies "fell dead at feet of American people" and the platform a "monstrosity". He says he will not back Hoover on such a platform. And he is the same Mr. Borah who deceived the voters of the Great Northwest in the last Presidential election, when he interpreted the last platform to suit the occasion. Mr. Borah will vote for Mr. Hoover just the same at the November election.

Unless most of our merchants go on the cash basis, we don't see how they can sell on credit, pay the revenue tax and carry on. One merchant told the editor that his credit accounts had trebled in the last three months, and another said a majority of charge accounts were doubtful. With the tax that the merchant must pay into the Government, but a few months would see their finish. It would be much better to have goods on the shelf, do less business, than to sell large quantities on doubtful accounts.

There will be many Congressmen return to their home districts fearful of their reception. It will be a hard matter for either political partisan to "point with pride" to the accomplishments of the session about to close. They appropriated great sums to relieve Big Business and the Corporations, but to help the ten million people out of employment, not a cent. And the worst thing is: There is nothing in sight for the unemployed except hunger, hardships and food riots the coming winter. The Red Cross will have a hard time raising funds to alleviate the suffering because the lemon has almost been squeezed dry of the depression that has closed banks, lowered stocks and bonds until those heretofore giving liberally are now without funds to give.

We are 100 per cent for Russell Dearth and have nothing but a very high regard for Francis M. Wilson his opponent. Russell is young, forceful, clean, honest and able to make an aggressive campaign if nominated. Francis M. Wilson is older, is just as honest, just as clean, but unable to carry the fight to the people if nominated. He will have to depend on his friends to make his fight. Russell Dearth is one of us down in Southeast Missouri and why he should miss a vote down here would be hard to understand. If he doesn't carry the Southeast Missouri Counties almost solid it will fool us.

OLD SOL CAUSES TWO BLOWUPS ON NO. 60 WEDNESDAY

Even reinforced concrete in this section of Missouri is registering disapproval of continued dry, hot weather.

The sun Wednesday afternoon managed to push mercury in the official government thermometer to 97, which proved sufficient to cause a Highway 60 "blowup" about one-half mile east of the first ditch east of Sikeston. Traffic was halted for a short time, while a temporary detour could be constructed, and a repair crew brought to the scene to make permanent repairs. The break raised the road approximately one foot over a 10 to 12-foot area.

A similar "blowup", though on a smaller scale was reported by Highway officials Tuesday afternoon, west of Charleston on the half-and-half concrete portion of Highway 60.

Several days will be required to affect permanent repairs.

NAZARENE CHURCH WILL HOLD ALL-DAY SERVICES

The local Nazarene church will hold all-day services Monday, July 4, at the church on Stoddard Street. At this time a joint rally consisting of N. Y. P. S. and W. F. M. S. will be held.

The following churches in this zone will have representatives present. Charleston, Dexter, Morehouse, Bernie, Bell City, Malden, Caruthersville and Poplar Bluff. Among those present will be District President, N. Y. P. S., Stanley Whitknae, of St. Louis; District Superintendent, Rev. J. W. Roach, of St. Louis, and District President of W. F. M. S., Mrs. J. W. Hoffert of St. Louis.

A basket dinner will be served at noon. Everybody is invited to attend and bring well filled baskets. There will be special speakers for the occasion, including Rev. J. W. Roach, Rev. J. E. Smith of Caruthersville, Stanley Whitknae and Rev. J. H. Holt of Malden.

CHECK TAX BEING SCOUTED BY MANY

Many persons and several large business firms in the city have made arrangements to avoid payment of the two-cent-per-check tax effective last Tuesday, when a long list of federal levies went into effect on many regularly used commodities and services.

Both Sikeston banks, the Morehouse Trust Company and several private firms have made arrangements for receipt blanks to be used in lieu of checks. They are tax exempt according to a ruling from the under secretary of the United States Treasury Department.

The items merely state "Received of blank Bank or Trust Company, blank dollars of the amount due me on my account".

These receipts are not negotiable.

Several firms who issue checks numbering several hundred per day have tentatively agreed to use the same system. Checks drafted in the regular manner will be issued by these firms collectable at a specified place. When presented for redemption, the treasurer or secretary draws one check from the bank, and redeems any number of the other items which might have accumulated.

FARMINGTON POST OFFICE READY JULY 1

Farmington, June 21.—Farmington's new postoffice building will be completed by July 1, according to contractors in charge. It will be occupied by about the first of August.

FUR THIEF BOUND OVER AT LILBOURN

New Madrid, June 22.—Wade Gross of Lilbourn was taken into custody Saturday night by Sheriff A. F. Stanley and Constables Lane and Wilkins, on a charge of burglary and larceny.

Gross was given a preliminary hearing before Justice Val Perkins of Lilbourn, Monday and bound over to the Circuit Court. In the meantime he is in jail unable to fill bond.

According to witnesses at the preliminary hearing, Gross entered the house of Burley Rhodes and took a quantity of furs on December 12th last, and sold them in New Madrid. Officers were unable to locate Gross until last Saturday night.

Lewis Moore of Lilbourn was bound over to the Circuit Court by Justice Val Perkins of Lilbourn Monday, on a charge of felonious assault. It was alleged that Moore assaulted W. F. Canamore with a monkey wrench. Moore is in the County Jail unable to fill bond.

Democratic Friends Plan Monster Dearth Rally For July 21 Near Madrid

Tentative plans were perfected Tuesday night by representatives from six or eight Southeast Missouri Counties for a mammoth free barbecue and rally for Senator R. L. Dearth to be held at Bullocks Grove, about two miles north of New Madrid, July 21.

The committee meeting in charge of J. V. Conran was held at the County Court House, New Madrid, where a site and date was selected, and additional committees on arrangements and program were appointed.

The grove located north of New Madrid on Highway 61 contains about forty acres and is said to be ideally located for the occasion.

Those who have had charge of similar affairs, although on a smaller scale, estimated that at least 150 animals would be necessary to feed the estimated crowd of 10,000 persons.

Senator Dearth, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Missouri, has constantly gained strength in Central and North Missouri. His friends in Southeast Missouri believe that they owe a vote of confidence to their fellow Southeast Missourians and decided to stage the monster demonstration at which Mr. Dearth has agreed to appear and speak.

The joint meeting of Neighborhood Women's Clubs of Scott County held a meeting at New Hamburg Monday, at which time Miss Flora Lee Carl, of the College of Agriculture demonstrated methods of canning. This meeting was attended by 76 women, composed of the Clubs at New Hamburg, Bleda district, the Head School district, the Salcedo area and the Miner Switch area with 4-H Canning Club at Morley led by Mrs. A. C. McMullin attending. This is the first of four joint meetings that will be held and it was freely expressed that the attendance at the next meeting would probably be larger than this meeting.

The discussion and demonstration was on the Canning of Fruits, Vegetables, Meats and Chicken.

The following are extracts from reports of the meetings of the clubs since organization:

The Beda Neighborhood Women's Club in its first meeting took up "new ways of making sandwiches" at the home of Mrs. Louis Dohogne with Mrs. Charles Diebold taking charge of the demonstration. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tony Reiminger at which time they will take up the cooking of vegetables. They believe in mixing in some recreation in with their meetings, as their report shows that they played games. The Bleda Club took in four new members at this last meeting.

The Head Neighborhood Women's Club at Ilmo met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Lee with five members attending and two visitors.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT PARMA JUNE 29

Langdon R. Jones and Orville Zimmerman Will Be Principal Speakers

Plans have been completed for the holding of a big Democratic Rally at Parma on Wednesday, June 29th, when Democrats from not only New Madrid county, but adjoining counties will be present. The rally is being sponsored by Henry Dill and Mrs. Rosa M. Hall, committeeman and committeewoman of Como township, and Democrats of Como township.

The rally will be held in the new school gymnasium, which is capable of accommodating 2000, and will be held regardless of weather conditions. The speaking is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. The Kennett band has been engaged to furnish music before and after the speaking.

The principal speakers for the rally are Hon. Langdon R. Jones and Hon. Orville Zimmerman, both of Kennett. Both these gentlemen are eloquent orators and will speak to the voters on the political issues of the day. They are capable men and versed on the present campaign issues. State and County candidates will also be present at the rally and will be introduced from the speakers' stage.

All voters of whatever political belief, are invited to attend the rally. Ladies are especially urged to attend.

CANALOU CHURCH SERVICES

An all day church service is to be held at Canalou, July 4, with the co-operation of other churches in the district. Services will begin at 10:45 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. C. B. Beauchamp of Hillsboro, Ill., and Miss Edith Darby were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Arthur Tuesday night and Wednesday.

members attending and two visitors. They took up Sewing and Cutting out of various pattern pieces. At the next meeting they will take up further work on sewing. They also had a needle threading contest to add some recreation to their meeting.

The New Hamburg Club at its last meeting had 17 members present and took up the discussion on Smoking and Fancy stitches with Miss Dorothy Hahn acting as leader. Each of the members also made samples during the meeting.

The Willing Workers Club at Salcedo has had two meetings. The first meeting they took up the Canning of Spinach, Mrs. Sayers Tanner leading the discussion. Their second meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Fenimore at which time Miss Pearl Allard led the meeting on Preserving and Jelly Making, and reported by Mrs. Doyle Lackey that interest is increasing in their club.

The Miner Merry Matrons met and organized a club at the home of Mrs. W. A. Moreau and elected their officers: President, Mrs. Ben Matthews; Vice President, Mrs. J. O. Eubank; secretary, Mrs. Wade Malcolm; Treasurer, Mrs. W. F. Woods, Mrs. W. A. Moreau, Game and Song Leader and Mrs. Henderson Howard as Child Development Chairman. This new club has a total of 15 members. They outlined their program for the balance of the year for use of material from the College of Agriculture.

A popular vote was held by the entire club as to the most popular 4-H Club leader, attending Canning. This honor went to Rev. W. C. Ellzey, Garden Club Leader at Benton. He also was the camp bugler and delivered the Flag Day address to the entire camp.

Blue and Red Achievement ribbons were offered in accordance to quality of work done at the camp. Scott County received 24 blue ribbons as follows: Ilmo, Martha Ann Craig, Martha Jane Deaton, Mabel Roth and Dorothy Eifert. At Anceal and Kelso; Cecily Dammueiller, Bernice Dorr, Delphine Enderle, Viola Arnold, Doris Welter, Helen Welter, Leonard Schumacher, Catherine Glasser and James McLain. At Benton: Virginia Eldredge, Frances Lucas, Anna Lee Lucas and Margaret Adams.

SHOP LIFTER DRUNK RELEASED BY POLICE

Bill Crews of Doniphan, caught in the act of shoplifting five men's shirts from the People's Store during the noon hour Wednesday, was released Thursday morning, after spending a night in the Sikeston city jail.

Crews entered the store and priced shirts for several minutes. Miss Hocker, clerk, the only member of the sales force present at the time, noticed him a few minutes later walking out of the place with five shirts under his arm. Her screams of "robber" and "stop thief" brought Bob Law and Ted Higgins to the rescue. Crews was too drunk to run, according to witnesses, and readily returned his loot.

After the shoplifter had spent a night in the holdover, Nathan Yoffe, owner of the store, declined to prosecute and his release followed after Crews agreed to leave this vicinity.

GRABER'S 48-INCH EXHAUST FAN INSTALLED

Patrons of Graber's Store here attending the 13th Anniversary are feeling the benefits of a 48-inch electric exhaust fan installed by workmen of the Board of Public Works this week.

The monster fan pulls thousands of cubic feet of air through the store, and affects a complete change of air every minutes.

Those who cut through the alley in back of the store, it has been noticed, halt for a few minutes when they reach this blower in order to take full advantage of the air rush pulled through the shutters.

The Anniversary Sale event which started last week, has met with signal success according to the local store manager. Graber's are celebrating their thirteenth year in Southeast Missouri, and offer a multitude of bargains in seasonable merchandise.

ADVANCE AGENT OF KING COTTON ARRIVES JUNE 20

First cotton blossoms! ! ! Southeast Missourians and everyone else interested in the welfare of King Cotton are engaged in their annual contest, showing first cotton blossoms.

The first flower of the season to come to this office was shown Thursday morning by G. J. Deane, agent for Southeast Missouri Farms, Inc., and manager of about 5000 acres of land in this district. The first blossom appeared on June 20 on land farmed by Walter Brooks, three or four miles north of Lilbourn. Two days later a blossom was picked from a twenty acre tract farmed by Jim Raines on the same plantation.

Mr. Deane advanced the thought that June 20 was unusually early for cotton blossoms in this area, but that cotton right now could use a long, slow general rain to very good advantage. Most of the 200 acres in cotton near Lilbourn is up about knee high, clean and in first class condition.

SCOTT COUNTIANS WIN 4-H HONORS

The Scott County Delegation of 4-H Club members to the Ironside Camp made an excellent showing. In studies and instruction and tests on 4-H Club work and in identification of weeds and their studies, four members tied for first honor. Two of whom were Scott County Club members, Miss Cecily Dammueiller of Kelso and the other Miss Viola Arnold of Anceal. It was decided to make a drawing for the one to receive the prize, donated by the Purina Feed Mills for the highest ranking club member and Miss Dammueiller won the draw.

In the fourteen entries in the stunt contest, Scott County won third place with the stunt team composed of members of the Anceal and Kelso Clubs. In the song contest, Scott County was represented by the Meol Planning Club members of Benton who won second place. Club members endeavored to keep their cabins neat and tidy and a banner was awarded to the cabin each day which was in best order. Each time the banner was won by the cabin occupied by members of the Anceal Club. This was the first time this has ever happened in the history of the club camp and the banner was given them to keep permanent.

A popular vote was held by the entire camp as to the most popular 4-H Club leader, attending Canning. This honor went to Rev. W. C. Ellzey, Garden Club Leader at Benton. He also was the camp bugler and delivered the Flag Day address to the entire camp.

CHICKEN THIEF RAIDS DAVID ALLARD ROOST

The third chicken robbery in four weeks was reported Thursday morning about 2 o'clock by David Allard, farmer living north of the city. His brother, Lacy Allard, Bank of Sikeston employee, accompanied by Constable Brown Jewell and Deputy Nall drove to the scene immediately, and later that morning tracked the lone rooster robber to town.

Seven birds had been sold to a local market, where one member of the firm stated he might be able to identify the man. A bloodhound from Cape Girardeau was brought to the Allard farm and readily picked up the trail.

SIKESTON DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS TO BE AT CAMPBELL RALLY

The local Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will be one of several musical organizations to attend the District American Legion Convention to be held at Campbell next Sunday, June 23. Chaffee will send the 140th Infantry band.

Indications point to a large attendance from most of the more than a score of Posts throughout the Fourteenth Congressional District. Representatives are expected from each of the sixteen counties comprising the district with an additional group from several posts in Northeast Arkansas.

Post Commander Henry Lowndale announced today that preparations have been completed for the entertainment of the ex-soldiers and members of the Auxiliary to the tune of about 2000 participants.

The primary purpose of the gathering, as announced from the State Department of the Legion, is that of perfecting plans for the annual Armistice Day celebration and of taking care of other executive problems that confront the organization.

Money Cached Under Rug In Morehouse Stolen; Two Alleged Thieves Jailed

Special to The Standard
Morehouse, Mo., July 22.—Two men charged with the theft of $81 cash which had been hidden under a rug in the home of "Thumb" Colliers, local poultry dealer, were in the county jail today at New Madrid. Arrests were made by Snowball James, constable.

Lyman Towery and Pat Gray, both of this city, according to information furnished by Sheriff Towery, were picked up at Morehouse girl to call Colliers to the door of his home, other members of the family being away, while the men entered the rear door and removed the money.

S. H. D EMPLOYEE FATHER OF EIGHT DIES MONDAY P. M.

S. E. Hesley, employed by the Missouri State Highway Department for the past eight years as patrolman on the Gray Ridge-Dexter route, Highway 60, died unexpectedly last Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock while at work.

Hesley and Cletus Cox were engaged in mowing right-of-way between Fisk and Dudley, with Hesley riding the mower. Cox was pulling the machine with a truck. About 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, Hesley complained of a burning sensation in his throat which extended later to his stomach. His companion stopped the truck and both rested for a few minutes.

Thirty minutes after they started back to work, Hesley complained of acute pains, and decided to take the remainder of the afternoon off and go home. The two men started for Dexter in the truck, but Hesley collapsed on the way. He was left in the front yard of a farm house, while Cox continued to Dexter, returning shortly with Dr. LaRue, who pronounced Hesley dead when he arrived.

Mr. Hesley was 47 years old, and the father of eight children. The family lived in Essex where funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon.

FARMER DIES HEAT VICTIM

Poplar Bluff, June 22.—John Gean, 22, a farmer, died today, the first heat victim of the year. He became exhausted while at work a week ago.

MRS. ELSIE DAVIS WEDS TRENTON MAN

Mrs. Elsie Davis of this city, school teacher and former Sikeston Standard employee, surprised friends here this week with the announcement that last Sunday she was married to C. U. Alexander, professor of chemistry at Trenton College, Trenton, Mo.

The wedding ceremony was performed last Sunday afternoon, 8 o'clock in the parlor of the Evangelical church, St. Louis, with Dr. W. F. Simon reading the service.

Mr. Alexander and family will move to Trenton the latter part of this week, and will be at home there. Mr. Alexander is head of the chemistry department of Trenton College.

The Standard joins Mrs. Alexander's many local friends in wishing the couple success and happiness.

BREW FLOWS FREELY DURING PARMA RAID

New Madrid, June 23.—A raid made Friday night at Parma by Sheriff A. F. Stanley and Constable Lane and Wilkins resulted in the arrest of B. Mays of Parma for possession of intoxicating liquor.

According to officers, a ten-gallon keg and four gallon jugs of whiskey were confiscated and about 180 pint bottles of home brew beer destroyed on the premises. About twenty gallons of brew mash were also destroyed. Mays filled bond for his appearance in Circuit Court following his arrest.

DeWitt—C. H. Hickerson installed display counter refrigerator. Marceline—Woodrow Burgener purchased miniature golf course across street from St. Bonaventure school.

The theft was discovered early last Saturday morning, but the two suspects were not found immediately.

Gray was apprehended here Monday, while Towery was picked up in Cape Girardeau the day following.

It was alleged here today that Towery was in the house Friday and located the place where the money was hidden. The plan of luring Colliers to the door and of obtaining the loot, all in bills, was easily effected.

A preliminary hearing for the two men, charged with grand larceny, has not yet been set.

HOTTEST DAY IS NOT SO HOT, LAST YEAR CONSIDERED

According to heat records kept by Roy V. Ellis, superintendent of schools here, the weather this week and last has been behaving beautifully compared with unusually high marks established last summer. It should be noted in passing that Mr. Ellis' thermometer is not an official, corrected instrument, and that the temperatures recorded will probably vary two or three degrees with the Government mercury tube.

However, June 22, Wednesday this week, was the hottest day on record this year according to Mr. Ellis. The temperature rose to an even 100, while one year ago, it stood seven degrees higher.

Other marks set last summer include 110 degrees on July 10, and 111 degrees on July 28. Again in August the mercury shoved up to 110.

GAS RATES HIKE BY NEW FEDERAL TAX

Since midnight Tuesday, provided gasoline has been purchased in the meantime, it has cost United States owners of "gas buggies" one cent more per gallon to operate automobiles and trucks. A federal tax of one cent per gallon went into effect at that time on gasoline, and a similar tax of 4 cents per gallon on motor oils.

Price schedules here were hiked Wednesday morning to the following rates, high test 19.7 per gallon, regular 16.7 cents and "blue" gas 13.1. Oil prices were quoted at 16, 26, 31 and 36 cents per quart, depending upon quality.

The one-cent federal tax on gasoline brought about a one-tenth cent per gallon raise on all gasoline to help absorb pipe line tax, and incidental collection expenses.

J. J. MAYFIELD FUNERAL RITES ARE CONDUCTED

Arrangements are being made today for a meeting at the City Hall here at 7:30 o'clock, June 30, at which time Charles M. Hay, Democratic candidate for Senator from this State, will speak.

Mr. Hay is one of the most polished speakers in the State and promises to be present with his usual brilliant interpretation of governmental policy, as related to present-day conditions.

Mr. Mayfield, nearly 94 years old, succumbed at his home at Mayfield of complications on Monday. A native of this county, he spent nearly all his life in the Mayfield community.

During the Civil War he served with the Bollinger County Militia, and most of his long life engaged in farming to livelihood.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. C. Hale, and Rev. J. W. Ellis of Cape Girardeau, and burial took place in the Pulliam cemetery, near Mayfield.

Mr. Mayfield, a son of a pioneer from North Carolina, George Washington Mayfield, was born October 4, 1838. He was married in 1857 to Miss Sarah Williams of Bollinger County. Mrs. Mayfield survives, and is now 91 years old. Surviving also are seven children, one brother, 25 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren.

The surviving children are: Dr. A. A. Mayfield of Sikeston, Dr. E. L. Mayfield of Manila, Ark.; M. H. Mayfield and A. Lee Mayfield of Mayfield, C. J. Mayfield of Morley, G. W. Mayfield of Scopus and Mrs. Adeline Masters of Hurricane. Two sons, Dr. L. M. Mayfield of Portageville and Dr. J. J. Mayfield of Jackson, preceded their father in death. The brother is Dr. E. B. Mayfield of St. Louis.

FIRE DESTROYS DRY CLEANER'S TRUCK MONDAY

Fire destroyed the delivery truck belonging to the Sikeston Cleaning Company Monday afternoon near Miner on Highway 60. A mechanic had reworked the machine and had the truck out for a test run, when the fire occurred. The Sikeston fire department made a run at 5:10 o'clock Tuesday evening to the Alvin Taylor residence on North Ranney. A defective ironing cord shorted and caused much excitement but slight damage.

MADRID 4-H CLUBBERS WIN CAMP HONORS

New Madrid, June 20.—Four New Madrid County 4-H Club members, with their Club Leader and County Agent, attended the 4-H Club Regional Club Camp at Ironside last week.

This camp for fourteen Southeast Missouri Counties had 170 Club members and leaders in attendance. Instruction was given the Club members on proper methods of conducting 4-H Clubs, in identifying weeds, in playing group games and in swimming and first aid.

New Madrid County Members may well be proud of the record of their members at this camp. All of the New Madrid Club members in attendance at the camp were awarded blue ribbons for the excellence of their work, and one of the Club members, Margaret Haywood of Canalou, received the highest grade given at the camp. She was awarded this honor at last year's camp also. Regional Club Camps such as was held at Ironside last week offer exceptional opportunities for self improvement to Club members. The instruction they receive in classes, their contacts with leaders and Club members from other counties, their competition in study and in games with boys and girls other than those in their local Club of school helps to build up their self confidence and shows in the improvement of the Club members work in succeeding years.

It is hoped that next year, a much larger number of New Madrid Club members will be able to attend this camp.

CHAS. M. HAY TO SPEAK HERE JUNE 30

Arrangements are being made today for a meeting at the City Hall here at 7:30 o'clock, June 30, at which time Charles M. Hay, Democratic candidate for Senator from this State, will speak.

Mr. Hay is one of the most polished speakers in the State and promises to be present with his usual brilliant interpretation of governmental policy, as related to present-day conditions.

J. J. MAYFIELD FUNERAL RITES ARE CONDUCTED

Lutesville, June 22.—Funeral services for John J. Mayfield, Civil War veteran and member of a family in which there have been five doctors in two generations, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Mayfield, Bollinger County.

Mr. Mayfield, nearly 94 years old, succumbed at his home at Mayfield of complications on Monday. A native of this county, he spent nearly all his life in the Mayfield community.

During the Civil War he served with the Bollinger County Militia, and most of his long life engaged in farming to livelihood.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. C. Hale, and Rev. J. W. Ellis of Cape Girardeau, and burial took place in the Pulliam cemetery, near Mayfield.

Mr. Mayfield, a son of a pioneer from North Carolina, George Washington Mayfield, was born October 4, 1838. He was married in 1857 to Miss Sarah Williams of Bollinger County. Mrs. Mayfield survives, and is now 91 years old. Surviving also are seven children, one brother, 25 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren.

It's been only a few weeks since a carnival came to Shelby and failed to get the patronage it desired. One reason was because it did not offer anything different from what the people had spent their money on for untold years. Even the children did not get excited about it. We'll bet, however, that if instead of the merry-go-round and ferris wheel, there had been an ordinary elevator such as is found in every hotel in the city, such a ride would have collected all the nickels and dimes the kids could have begged from their parents. City folks will be amused at such a suggestion, but if they could see a child from the country take a ride on an elevator, they would probably be pointing up with a carnival and trying out such a proposition.—Shelby Democrat.

Over in Mississippi County there is much opposition to McDowell for State Senate for the reason that he bolted and fought Frank Ashby, the regular Democratic nominee for prosecuting attorney at the last election. These dissatisfied Democrats are for Judge T. A. Penman of New Madrid County for State Senate as his record and character cannot be assailed by the opposition party. When McDowell bolted the ticket, he was Democratic chairman of Mississippi County which makes the offense more marked in the eyes of regular Democrats.

Judge Charles A. Leedy, while in this section of the State, was doing as much missionary work as possible for Francis M. Wilson for Governor. We don't know what success he had, but we think it strange should Southeast Missouri not stand solid behind Dearnont for that office. We have nothing but praise for Wilson, but pride and home considerations make us feel more kindly toward our neighbor, Dearnont. However, if Wilson is the nominee, we'll be for him just as strong as we would have been for Dearnont.

Instead of bringing in the large tax expected, the law recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, we believe, will prove a disappointment. It is going to slow up business in many lines and cause people not to buy. Nearly everything handled in a drug store is eligible to a tax and while the tax is passed on to purchaser will hurt business. But we have to raise the money.

It is said the railroads will repay these loans. Perhaps so, perhaps not, with some probability on the not. The veterans would surely repay, for the money they ask for now is coming to them from the government as a bonus in a short time anyhow, and the government could not possibly lose its money. Between a man needing a few hundred dollars and a corporation needing many millions of dollars, the difference is great.—Arthur Brisbane.

Seneca—American Tripoli Co. moved its St. Louis office here.

Never before, politically speaking, has the Democratic party had as open a road to victory this fall as now. Imagine the plight of Republican leaders, Republican newspapers and "independent" newspapers with strong Republican tendencies. From the proud pinnacle of "Two cars in each garage, and a chicken in every pot", the Republican party has descended to the sorry plight of seeing both cars in the hands of the finance corporation, an added tax on gasoline to keep those in operation still running, and a tax on rubber which increases the difficulty of reshoehing the old family relic. The nine million unemployed in the cities and the howling mob of bonus seekers in Washington when confronted with "two chickens for the pot" find instead a tax on matches, no pot and no chicken. Consider also, the plight of the powder dry, religions-when-necessary-edits.

They have seen their champion national dry, Herbert, lowered into the foam and spray of a wet Republican plank. They suffered the humiliation of the damned when Mable Walker Willebrandt, ex-assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition enforcement, sat on the front row at the Chicago convention, mute, stunned and disillusioned. Mable, you will remember, quit the forces and the payroll of the holier than thou dries to accept a juicer, and fatter plum from the California Grape industry makers of an intoxicating beverages by and with the moral and financial support of a Hoover Farm Board loan. Consider also the plight of our friends in this district who ripped shirts right and left for the Honorable Dewey Short . . . dry as a Methodist preacher, four, three, two—even one year ago—and now, perish the thought, Dewey is wet.

GOOD ADVICE FOR A SAFE FOURTH OF JULY

This year most of the nation will celebrate the Fourth of July with a three-day holiday. Such a long period for recreation is awaited eagerly by us all. Yet its unusual length doubles the hazards and danger to which we will be exposed.

Independence Day is known as the worst accident day of the year. This year may break the tragic record unless everyone guards himself closely and observes all safety rules. A list of "don'ts", all excellent advice, has been prepared by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters and follows:

- If you drive your car—Drive Safely:
Don't drive recklessly—it's a long holiday and there's plenty of time.
Don't take out your car unless it is in first-class condition.
Don't drive on the wrong side of the road—keep to the right.
Don't drive too long without resting—mental lapses due to fatigue cause accidents.
Don't pass other cars unless you have a clear view ahead; don't cut in and out of traffic lines; don't pass or fail to slow down at intersections.
If you go swimming—Swim Safely:
Don't attempt marathon races by swimming too long or too far.
Don't venture out into too deep water if you're not a strong swimmer.
Don't swim away from the crowd—"In unity there is strength".
Don't indulge in ducking others or in frightening weak swimmers or children.
Don't lie too long in the sun—sun poisoning is injurious and can be fatal.
If you celebrate with fireworks—Celebrate Safely:
Don't hold lighted firecrackers over your head or throw them close to others.
Don't explode firecrackers near combustible materials.
Don't celebrate with guns loaded with real cartridges or shot; firecrackers and toy cap pistols are dangerous enough.
Don't fail to treat injuries, even the most minor ones, immediately and intelligently. Tetanus poisoning works slowly but surely.
Don't get too close to a display of fireworks—premature explosions occur.

WHAT WOODROW WILSON THOUGHT OF PROHIBITION

In his statement last Friday declaring for a referendum on the prohibition question, William Gibbs McAdoo gave the views of Woodrow Wilson on prohibition. Wilson was McAdoo's father-in-law. McAdoo's statement referring to Wilson's view was as follows:

"In 1917, when the resolution for submission to the States of what is now the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution was on its passage through the Congress, I had an interesting conversation with President Wilson about the matter. While it is not incumbent upon the President to approve or disapprove such a resolution, he was deeply concerned about it. President Wilson thought it unwise to incorporate the prohibition in the amendment itself. He was convinced that it would be better to give Congress the power to regulate or to prohibit the traffic. He said:

"The amendment is an attempt by law to change long-established habits of a people. No one can tell, in advance, how it will work. I anticipate great difficulty in its enforcement unless public opinion strongly supports it. If this fails, it may become necessary to change law, but this will be impossible under an inflexible provision in the Constitution. If the power to deal with the subject is confined to the Congress, the law can be made responsive to public opinion—the ultimate authority in a democracy. I fear that the inflexible provision may, in the end, defeat the whole prohibition movement."

"I was in full accord with President Wilson's views. President Wilson was a sincere advocate of temperance. In the early days he favored local option by communities. When this proved impracticable he favored State-wide option.

"After the eighteenth amendment was ratified he said that the whole power of the Government should be put behind its enforcement. It has been said that he vetoed the Volstead act because he was opposed to the eighteenth amendment. This is not true. In his veto of the Volstead act he said:

"I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to wartime prohibition. It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergencies of the war, and whose objects have been satisfied in the mobilization of the Army and Navy, and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of Congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation arising out of war emergency have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity of repeal."

James Hamilton Lewis, United States Senator for Illinois, is the most polite man in the world, always and ever. Never does the Senator forget the amenities. A crowd of bonus seeking ex-soldiers gathered about him in Washington this week to demand that he vote for the bonus measure. One rowdy shouted, "We're from Illinois, and you know where you can go, don't you". Thereupon the immaculate Senator removed his hat, bowed low and said, "Gentlemen, you may go to hell, I am going to the Senate".

A $2 Dinner for 6

It's hard work to stretch budgets these days, and even the small housewife has to do some all thinking sometimes to make hers cover the multiple needs of the modern household. But when a grown-up housewife can serve a family of six with an appetizing dinner for two dollars, she can stick at least one feather in her cap. This menu does it, with a penny to spare.

Potato and Bean Salad: Add one chopped onion and one shredded green pepper to two cups sliced, cold boiled potatoes, and marinate in part of one-third cup of French dressing, marinating one ten and one-half ounce can stringless beans in the remainder. Toss lightly together, and add one-half cup cooked dressing. Serve very cold on lettuce leaves.

Cherry Pie: Drain one can sour red cherries and pour into a pie tin, lined with pastry. Mix three tablespoons flour, one-half cup sugar and one-half cup of the cherry syrup, and pour over. Dot with one tablespoon butter. Cover with narrow strips of pastry and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for twenty-five minutes.

Mothers! are your children drinking Chemical Imitations?

Do their nickels buy fruit juice and vitamins or "pop" flavored with a synthetic concoction of chemicals?

You mothers have a right to know that many of the cheap "pops" sold as "fruit flavors" never saw fruit juice. You have a right to know what's really in the drinks your children's nickels buy.

What "imitation flavors" really are Millions of bottles of cheaply made "pops" are flavored only with mixtures of chemicals, synthetic concoctions made in imitation of fruit juices. They don't contain one drop of real fruit juice. Which do you want your children to drink? Which do you want to drink yourself?

It isn't necessary to take a chance on your drinks and the drinks your children buy. Through the genius of one of America's great food experts, the freshness and health value of fresh orange juice have been captured in a new delicious 5c drink—The New Orange-Crush!

Now—a new drink with fruit juice and vitamins instead of chemical imitations

Orange-Crush is the 5c fruit drink with fruit juice and vitamins that is rapidly supplanting chemical imitations. It's fresh—delicious—zestful as only sun-sweetened juice can be. Made right in the heart of the orange country by a new, exclusive process that retains all the health value of the fresh-picked fruit.

Children love its fresh juice taste Once they taste the new Orange-Crush, children prefer it to any chemical imitation. It's so fragrant, pure and sparkling!

Of course doctors recommend the new Orange-Crush. Encourage your children to drink it often. Buy it by the case—keep it in the home. Every member of the family will enjoy it.

The NEW ORANGE-CRUSH is sold icy-cold at stores and stands everywhere. It contains luscious orange juice—the tang of peel—the zest of lemon juice acid—pure U. S. certified food color—pure cane sugar—and clear, sparkling water.

HISTORY OF ROAD BUILDING IN MISSOURI

Floyd C. Shoemaker

One hundred and twenty-four years ago this week, there was enacted by the legislature of the Territory of Louisiana, sitting in session at St. Louis, the first legal provision designating a road in what is now Missouri. Two years before, in 1806, a general road law had been passed, but it authorized no specific road.

Thousands of miles of roads have been built in Missouri following enactment of that first law in 1806, and even by 1911, well over 100 millions of dollars had been invested. Yet it was not until 1917 that a so-called modern road law was enacted in Missouri. Even then it remained for the Centennial Road Law of 1921 to be passed before Missouri had legal provision for a centralized directing force for its great State highway system of the present.

On June 20, 1808, a date which recurs this week, the first law concerning a definite road in what is now Missouri, and probably the first west of the Mississippi river, was enacted. The law of 1808 provided for the surveying of a "wagon" road from St. Louis to Ste. Genevieve, thence to Cape and on to New Madrid. The act was signed by Meriwether Lewis, a leader of the famous Lewis and Clark Expedition and at that time governor of the Territory of Louisiana, and John B. C. Lucas and Otho Shrader, territorial judges. These men, together with John C. Brown, the other judge, whose name does not appear on the act, constituted the territorial legislature.

Three commissioners were appointed to lay out the road and by March of 1809 a map had been made showing the route. Over a hundred years later, this same road was still being used.

Increasing population in Missouri necessitated more roads in the years following 1808. One of the most famous of these was the Boone's Lick Trail. This road was surveyed in 1815 by Nathan Boone, son of Daniel Boone, and led from St. Charles through Cottleville, Pittmans, Naylor's Store, Pondfort, Pauldingville, Hickory Grove, Warrenton, Camp Branch, Jones, Danville, Williamsburg, north of Fulton and Columbia thru Thrall's Prairie to Franklin and Boone's Lick. Later when Fulton and Columbia became prominent, the road led from Williamsburg thru Fulton, Millersburg, Columbia, and Rocheport to Franklin. Before 1822 the Boone's Lick Trail was the main traveled route to Western Missouri.

Congress established a system of post roads in Missouri in 1821 and in 1829 the Missouri General Assembly created a "road and canal" fund to be equally distributed among the counties. From then, until comparatively recent times, Missouri road building was marked by excessive special legislation, local interference, and bad roads.

The old plan of road maintenance offered some amusing comparisons with the efficient system now in force. Citizens worked the roads and in early days they could use this method of paying their poll taxes. Old laws provided that all road work should be done by August. Often all the men in a district would hold a "road bee" once a year to repair roads. A "bee" was generally a festive occasion of gossip, story telling, political discussion, and perhaps some work on the road. Rarely was the work under skilled direction as it is today. Unless some unusual occurrence made it necessary to repair the road again, no work was done on the road from one year to the next.

Beginning about 1848 and lasting until about 1856, Missouri was hit by the plank road craze. Thousands of dollars were invested by private companies in roads that soon warped and became useless. One of the most famous of these roads was the forty-two mile plank road from Ste. Genevieve to Iron Mountain, costing $200,000. Later the toll or turnpike system grew up and many of these roads lasted until the modern era of road building. State-wide road construction was hampered, however, by local interest and lack of coordination.

Interest in roads lagged with the coming of the railroad to Missouri in the 1850's and was not revived effectively until the generation that saw the coming of the automobile. The early part of the 20th century was marked by an attempt to life Missouri "out of the mud". In 1913 a State Highway Commissioner was provided for and in 1917 the Hawes act was passed, accepting federal aid, creating a State Highway board and providing for an engineering force. This act was enlarged by law in 1921 the famous Centennial Road Law was passed. Missouri had thus achieved a centralized highway system to replace the haphazard system of county or local control.

Cost Her $4.25 To Reduce 65 Pounds

"Worth It", Miss Bates Says.

If you're young and fat read what Miss Bates of Beech, Iowa, has to say about Kruschen Salts—if you are middle age or old Kruschen shows you the way to lose fat the SAFE way.

"I took one bottle of Kruschen Salts a month for five months. It amounted to $4.25 and I reduced 65 lbs. but it was worth it. Imagine just 22 years old and weighing what I did. I could not enjoy myself as other girls did. I could not get the clothes I wanted. I think it is wonderful the results Kruschen Salts give."

To lose fat the safe, sane way—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—eat less fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar that costs but a small sum lasts 4 weeks. Get it at White's Drug Store or any drug-store in the world—but be sure for your health's sake to ask for and get Kruschen Salts. It's the little daily dose that does it. -6

GIRARDEAU DEFEATS CHARLESTON 12-11

Charleston, June 20.—The Cape Girardeau Capahas defeated the Charleston Cardinals in a long drawn out game played at Fairground Park, Capt Girardeau, yesterday afternoon, 12-11. The game lasted 3 hours. Although out-hit, 11 to 15, the Capahas were able to bunch their hits so as to produce more runs.

The Capahas drew first blood, scoring 5 runs on 4 hits, a walk and a fielder's choice, in the last half of the first. The Cardinals scored 4 runs in the first half of the third on a walk and 5 hits. The Capahas scored 3 runs in their half of the third on a walk, two singles, and a triple. Cape scored 1 more run in the last of the fifth. Charleston failed to score again until the seventh, when they got 1 run. In the first half of the eighth, Charleston tied the score with 6 runs, made on 5 hits, an error, and a walk. The last hit was a triple with 3 men on base. This rally was started after two men were down. Nichols was knocked from the box, and Bergman finished the game. The winning run was scored by Cape in the eighth, on two singles.

The leading hitter for the day was Hequemour, Charleston second baseman, who had a single, double and triple and on through a fielder's choice out of five times. Brown of Charleston also had 3 hits, a double and two singles. Myers also of Charleston got three safe blows, all singles.

Batteries for the game: Charleston, Ault and Myers, Cape Nichols, Bergman and DeLassus.

THINKS "WORKING WAY" IN UNIVERSITY TO BE SLOW

Columbia, June 21.—The ambitious student who seeks to work his way through the University of Missouri should have a larger cash reserve when he comes to Columbia next fall, Earl Gordon, employment secretary for university men, said yesterday.

Gordon said he did not believe, however, that there will be a great decrease in the number of positions open to needy men next fall.

"There probably will be a larger number of applicants for the places, however," he said, "and it is only to be expected that, with conditions as they are, there will be some decrease in jobs."

"I believe every student who expects to work should come here with at least sufficient funds for his expenses for the first semester."

SAVE MONEY

By Reading and Heeding the Advertisements of Red & White Stores in Newspapers and Handbills

Why, in spite of Red & White high standards of quality, are prices lower at Red & White Stores . . . not just a few leaders, but on the general average of all items? Here's where the Red & White Plan comes in. Each Red & White Store is individually owned and operated by a local merchant. Each of the thousands of Red & White store owners is a member of the Red & White co-operative buying organization. Their combined buying power enables them to get the lowest quantity prices.

Furthermore, Red & White Products are shipped direct from the factories to local warehouses from which they are distributed to Red & White Stores. This means another big saving in handling and shipping costs. These savings, together with those resulting from more efficient store management, enable your local Red & White Stores to offer you greater values.

Yes... PLACES TO GO

Wonder Places... All within Reach of Your Car and You When You Heed the Call of Happy Highways

LET YOUR EYES lead you on from one vista of beauty to another as the road stretches alluringly onward before you. "Let's go Places!" you are urged by your kinfolk, and your own desires. "Let's go places," echoes your car as it purrs along under the stimulation of a tankful of Standard Red Crown—1933 World's Fair Gasoline.

If a mountain is your goal, let it be a mountain. Or perhaps it's lakes you love or streams that stir you! Interest is never ending when you have a car—and a copy of "PLACES TO GO" as your guide. 13 states in the Middle West are represented—each doing its best to attract you for week-end trips or a prolonged tour on the beckoning roads that lead always somewhere! When you Buy Standard Gasoline—ask for your copy of "Places to Go".

Hoover proposes a world armament cut, the headlines read Wednesday evening. That will be approved by every sensible, peace-loving taxpayer in the world, but that proposal is loaded with dynamite. We make this prophecy: That foreign countries if they agree to an armament reduction will make that reduction contingent upon reducing or cancelling altogether the War Debt contracted with the United States during the late World conflict. In the meantime we have difficulty in lemonade and sandwiches were supplied. Besides Mr. Dearmont, who talked on taxation, State government and bossism, other speakers were Everett Reeves of Caruthersville and Bennett Clark. Senator Dearmont, Sheriff Scott said, has gotten to be an orator in recent weeks. He holds a crowd wonderfully, now, he said, and demonstrates that he is getting into the midst of the campaign. Senator Dearmont has made 28 addresses in the last two weeks.

A supply of buttons nearly four inches in diameter bearing a clear picture of Senator Dearmont has been brought to Cape Girardeau from St. Louis and a Broadway drug store is distributing them. It is said many of them are being bought and worn in St. Louis.

According to information to Julien N. Friant in Cape Girardeau, Senator Dearmont was at Sedalia today and a banquet is scheduled there for tonight, with Gov. Woodring of Kansas to speak as well as Mr. Dearmont. Wednesday he is to be in Boone County, visiting at Rocheport and other places, possibly including Columbia. Thursday will likely also be spent in that county. He is tentatively scheduled to speak in Jefferson City Friday and Saturday and will be in Callaway County, speaking at Fulton at night. The following week Senator Dearmont is to campaign in Lincoln, Ralls, Pike and Audrain Counties. —Cape Missourian.

ed their dupes to do their worship to idols. It was through the wisdom of some Hebrew statesmen that spiritual worship of an unseen being was substituted. That reform was later so abused by the Jewish sanhedrim that it was denounced by Jesus Christ, himself a Jew, but a lover of justice and humanity.

The persecuted disciples of Christ succeeded in establishing a new religion, which has become a part of our modern civilization, but like all other religions, it has degenerated into an adjunct of the state, and instead of being the herald of peace, as its founder proclaimed, it has become the ally of all governments in war. Without the church, no nation could safely engage in war. Nor could the church exist without the protection of the State. Even here in America, where church and state have been divorced by law, they are partners and co-conspirators in war.

In peace times the church is for peace, but in war times it is for war. While some might ascribe this difference to patriotism, it is purely a matter of business. Without the sanction of the churches, President Wilson would not have been able to plunge America into the World War which cost thousands of lives of our best manhood and billions in treasure; nor would there have been given exemptions to all ministers and theological students had the government not feared the power of the churches. Remember that all churches, regardless of denomination or creed, enjoyed this exemption as a part of their reward for balancing the budget because someone must pay those war debts. If Europe is excused, Mr. and Mrs. American Taxpayer can look forward to two generations of paying the bill.

The following paragraph is copied verbatim from the report of one of our correspondents of a recent wedding. If it gives you a pain in the same place it does us, buffet suppers will be stylish at both homes. Here is the paragraph: "The graceful skirt closely draped the slender bride, flared into fullness at the bottom ending in a long fish tail train. The gown elegantly simple, depended for embellishment upon the richness of the fabric and its exquisite lines". We are unable to state whether it was the gown or the bride that flared into fullness at the bottom, but we do wish the couple happiness and good luck nevertheless.

IN THE POLITICAL REALM

Southeast Missourians who attended a Deamont meeting in St. Louis Saturday night were dumbfounded when they saw on what scale the demonstration was carried out, according to Sheriff Tom Scott of Benton, who was here late Monday. There were 6000 persons at the meeting, he said, which was a great surprise to Sheriff Scott, Ray B. Lucas and John Dernberger and nearly a dozen others from Scott County and Julien N. Friant of Cape Girardeau. St. Louis is getting aroused, Sheriff Scott said, and it all seems to be in favor of Senator Dearmont.

Mike Whalen and aids put on the meeting, in the 22nd Ward, at St. Louis and Euclid avenues, it being an outdoor affair. Over 2500 were seated, and the others stood. When Senator Dearmont came before the crowd, Mr. Scott said, the people gave him an ovation seldom equalled in political meetings. As he talked, and especially when he "came out of his coat", it was said, the crowd was wild in its cheering.

With a Dearmont organization in each ward in St. Louis, Sheriff Scott said, the city folks are causing even Southeast Missourians to sit up and take notice in regard to real work for the candidate from Cape Girardeau seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

The St. Louis organization has little money with which to work, but judging from this rally it needs little. In spite of this there were large Dearmont banners and

MEDICINE MEN

When Cristoforo Colombo landed on these shores in 1492, he discovered a people of primitive laws, customs and religion. The Indians were untutored, their ruler was the "Chief", and their spiritual guide and adviser was the "Medicine Man", who, through fear and cunning, kept the tribe in subjugation to the "Chief".

The "Chief" and "Medicine Man" were honored and feasted, and, in comparison with the tribe, lived lives of ease and luxury. Aside from the "Chief" and "Medicine Man", there were no distinctions in the tribe, except for cases of valor. Each tribe was a commune, and all were served alike when there was anything to serve after the rulers had theirs. The biological instinct of hate made every tribe the enemy of every other tribe.

Sociologists are scanning the pages of history to determine, if possible, the earliest forms of government, and archaeologists are excavating, for the same purpose, where tradition locates the cities of ancient civilization. These scientific researches not only prove that the tribal form of government which Columbus found existing here was the earliest form of government, but also that the American Indian migrated during that early period and retained the ancient customs. The racial ambition, pride and hatreds of the Old World led to state governments and kings, which supplanted the tribal forms.

In the new form of government the chief became king, and the medicine men became priests, whose offices were lucrative. It mattered not what the religion, whether sun worship, sex worship or the worship of some sacred animal, the priest was the oracle who filled the ignorant with superstition and made them obedient, if not willing, slaves of the king. In the evolution of religion there have been many changes, but there always was a bond between Church and State, and that bond made the priest the willing tool of the monarch and the recognized authority on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the souls of mankind.

In all countries, in all times, the cunning clergy have chloroformed the intellect of the people, and through their ignorance and superstitions the people were made the patriotic slave of the king. The most debasing period of priestcraft was during the time when the priests of Baal compelled recognizing the righteousness of slaughter.

So great is the need, by the state, of the power of the church, to keep the masses chloroformed, that no President is ever nominated who does not publicly proclaim his belief in God. As some of our ablest President, inwardly, did not believe in the Christian God, this subservience to the church not only belittled them in their own estimation for their deception, but it gave endorsement to that hypocrisy which is the fruit of a false religion. That turmoil in the world today is the fruit of the compromise between Church and State, when both were striving for the mastery.

All priests and ministers of religion, except those of Islam, are traditionally opposed to war. But in war time these modern medicine men like their prototypes, use their influence over the masses to justify the iniquity of war. Religions have changed. Forms of government have changed. But the relation of Priest and Ruler are the same today as in the earliest form of government, even such as Columbus found. Modern democracy has robbed kingly tyrants of their power, but it has not yet destroyed the debasing influence of the medicine men, now known as the clergy.

The world's problems are human problems. Governmental progress has greatly added to the welfare of the human race. But the human race will never fully come into its own until a fictitious throne, as have the czars, kings and kaisers. The clergy, successors of the office of medicine man, are the stumbling block in the road of human progress.—San Diego Herald.

PERFECT SPADE HAND HELD BY PLAYER HERE

Mrs. Dolly Kirby last Sunday afternoon held a perfect hand of 13 spades, bid six, doubled and redoubled, and lived to carry out the contract and make a score of 616 on the hand without fainting.

Mrs. Kirby's party, Mrs. Freda Limbaugh, and their opponents, Mrs. Dessie Lumsden and daughter, Miss Hazel Lumsden, agree that the thirteen-card suit actually "happened". On the next hand, Mrs. Kirby held eight spades, eighty honors, and made a little slam.

Mrs. H. M. Rice and children of Crutchfield, Ky., came Monday for a visit with her father, H. A. Walton, and other relatives.

A Change In Schedule Sunday — Arcadia Open Tourney—Sikeston Lineup—Individual Semo Standing and a Pro.

WHERE THEY PLAY SUNDAY

Standings in the Southeast Missouri Round Robin Tournament are not expected to change materially following next Sunday's match play tourneys. Poplar Bluff heads the lists with a percentage standing of 1000. Sikeston trails with 750 points, and Cape and Dexter are tied for third place.

The schedule has been shifted slightly to avoid playing the Bluff-Dexter match on the Kennett links. This course is new, and some trouble has been encountered with the fairways. Here's the official dope regarding the three final sessions next Sunday in Southeast Missouri play: Poplar Bluff vs. Dexter at Charleston.

Sikeston vs. Charleston at Cape Girardeau.
Cape Girardeau vs. Kennett at Dexter.

SIKESTON LINEUP

At least eighteen Sikestonians are expected to participate in the Charleston tournament next Sunday on the Girardeau Country Club links. A few changes have been made in the following lineup to accommodate those who have been left out in previous matches. An effort is being made to divide honors, so that each man qualified to participate in regular tournaments will have this last opportunity to play.

The lineup:
Bowman, L. R.
Phillips, M.
Scott, C. C.
Alexander, H.
Galloway, Paul
Stallcup, L. M.
Malone, C. L.
Fisher, D. L.
Matthews, C. D., III
Trowbridge, H. A.

Brown, J. L.
Harty, H. L.
Rost, V.
Robbins, F. M.
Mann, Wm.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

Honors in Southeast Missouri Club competition are pretty well divided. Cape Girardeau won the first two championships, Sikeston headed the list last year, and from all indications Poplar Bluff cannot be rooted out of first place this year.

The results at the end of round four:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Poplar Bluff	4	0	1000
Sikeston	3	1	750
Cape Girardeau	2	2	500
Dexter	2	2	500
Charleston	1	3	250
Kennett	0	4	000

THE HIGHCOCKOLORUMS

A tournament within a tournament is proving to be one of the most interesting points of competition this year. Individual shooters are at it brassie and putter for individual honors with the result that eleven Southeast Missourians are shooting under eighty as an average for four tourneys.

At the present time the individuals rate as follows for the 72 holes:

F. Borth, Poplar Bluff, 304 strokes.
L. R. Bowman, Sikeston—305
George W. Kirk, Charleston—306
Ted Borth, Bluff—309
C. Schwab, Cape Girardeau—309
C. C. Scott, Sikeston—310
E. Graham, Bluff—312
Sikeston's representative, Bowman slipped a notch and sent Fred Borth of Poplar Bluff into first place in a list of 15 ranking players. John Phillips and Kenfro Gibbs have disappeared from the list, but a new face, Charles Stivers of Cape Girardeau, who lucked in a brilliant 69 last Sunday bringing his average to 81 1/4. Scott of Sikeston is back for honors, after a bad early season start, while Kirk of Charleston and Graham of Poplar Bluff bettered their positions. E. McClintock of Cape Girardeau with a score of 75 last Sunday earned a position at the end of the bench.

A PRO ARRIVES

John Willbrand, young, attractive, sunburned, St. Charles product, is with the Sikeston Club this week, and will remain a few days next week. John, we mentioned that "attractive" business in the first line to assist you in luring girl golfers into the fold.

Should anyone be laboring under the delusion that Willbrand doesn't know his stuff, listen to this: A 33 and 32 on a par 37 course at Acadia Valley last week, and a flock of 32, 33, 35 scores on the local course this week. And, can he drive?

Willbrand uses a No. 4 iron for No. 1 hole on the local course, and has overdriven No. 9 twice this week in the presence of the hottest hot shots in the club, including Stallcup, Scott and Malone. His main object here during his ten-day, or longer, stay is to sandpaper rough spots from the form of our local shooters who desire that service.

ARCADIA VALLEY INDIVIDUAL PLAY TO BE HELD JULY 3-4

Plans are being made for the annual Southeast Missouri individual invitation tournament for amateurs to be played at the Arcadia Valley course near Ironton on July 3 and 4.

There will be either 27 or 36 holes of qualifying play to be run off between Saturday noon, July 2 and Sunday night, July 3. The actual number of holes for qualifying play will be announced later by the secretary.

There will be at least four classes, championship, class A, class B and Class C. The first 16 low shooters in the qualifying rounds will go into the championship bracket, and succeeding groups of 16 will make up the other classes. All who do not qualify for first, second or third classes will be placed in the fourth classification.

GIRL SCOUTS DECIDE TO GO CAMPING—LATER

Fifteen members of the local Girl Scout troop held their regular weekly meeting Thursday afternoon at the grade school building, under the leadership of Captain Nell Yanon.

Among other things the Scouts decided to go swimming later that afternoon, and reached the decision to go camping near Fredericktown. A date is to be selected later.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL NEWS

Miss Ann Klinge, who underwent an operation two weeks ago, returned yesterday to her home near Morehouse.

Mrs. Martha Crenshaw of Bertrand is still doing fine and will be released from the hospital in a few days.

Ernest Cannon of near Matthews is now able to sit up and is expected to be released this Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Payne is reported to be doing fine.

Mrs. Ben Terrell and daughter of Dexter are doing nicely. Mary Jane arrived at the hospital last Saturday. Mrs. Terrell before her marriage was Miss Lucille Baker of this city.

Bill Hughes is reported to be about the same.

Sherman Grant, an appendicitis patient, is doing fine.

WOOLWORTH STORE TO BE COMPLETED ON TIME

According to contractors in charge of remodeling the Kready buildings on Front Street, the future home of F. W. Woolworth & Company, in Sikeston, will be completed on contract time, July 15.

At present plasterers have finished their work on the lower floor, marble men have set front window stones. Plans call for placing a pine floor over the concrete and tile floor in the old buildings.

A shipment of milled wood-work, doors, partitions, etc., arrived this week ready to be stained.

At present most of the work is being concentrated on the second floor, where partitions are being placed for storage rooms.

New Madrid Bridge Party Held

Mrs. Irene Kerr and daughter, Miss Mildred Kerr, entertained at bridge at the home of Mrs. Celia Kerr, New Madrid, Wednesday evening this week. The following guests attended: Miss Katherine Stewart of Louisiana, Miss Eloise Mathewson, C. C. Wainwright and E. W. Martin of Arkansas, Earl Ward of Sikeston and O. H. Gehrig. Mr. Wainwright was awarded high score honors.

Festus—Improvements being made in Kay's Department Store. Work started on farm-to-market road between Ethel and New Cambria.

Butler—Carroll Grocery on east side of the square being remodelled.

For The Summer Menu

THREE FRUIT CRYSTALS

Dissolve sugar in the boiling water, and cool. Combine with remaining ingredients; transfer to the freezing tray of refrigerator, and freeze for about one hour, or until the mixture is transformed into fine crystals. Serve in chilled sherbert glasses and garnish with sugared grated orange rind.

JELLIED TONGUE LOAF

Boil tongue with seasoning, 4 to 5 hours. Cool slightly and skin tongue; chop fine. Chill broth in refrigerator; remove fat. Heat 1 1/2 pints broth, dissolve gelatine and add soup. Chill in refrigerator. When just ready to congeal, add chopped meat and put in bread pan lined with wax paper. Chill in refrigerator and cut in slices for cold meat.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

Cut all fruit into small pieces, add nuts (broken up), and mayonnaise. Whip cream and fold into mixture. Put in tray and leave for two or three hours. If left too long the fruit becomes icy. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce leaves. Serves six or seven.

STUFFED PIMIENTO SALAD

Soften cream cheese with the cream. Carefully fill pimientos. When filled, remove a little cheese from center, mix with chopped pickles and olives. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Cut in two, crosswise, and place on bed of lettuce. Garnish with watercress and serve with French dressing.

MAPLE MOUSSE DESSERT

Heat 1 cup maple syrup. Pour it into the beaten yolks of 4 eggs, return to stove and cook until quite thick. Fold in beaten egg whites and cool. Fold in 1 pint of cream, whipped. Put in refrigerator tray and freeze. Does not need stirring. Serves about 12 portions.

QUICK PEPPERMINT WAFERS

Beat egg white until stiff, add salt and peppermint oil, and gradually work in enough sugar to make a firm paste. Knead on a platter until smooth, and roll very thin. Shape with a small round cutter. Dip in granulated sugar, and transfer to a shallow pan lined with wax paper. Place on upper shelf of refrigerator until firm.

AMERICA WON'T CANCEL DEBT

Geneva, June 21.—Hugh S. Gibson, America's representative at the disarmament conference, told Premier Herriot of France last night that the United States will not listen to any appeal for cancellation of debts so long as Europe continues to spend vast sums for arms.

They met at Morges, a little town half way between here and Lausanne, and talked until past midnight. It was said that Mr. Gibson had asked the premier to come down from Lausanne after he had talked over the telephone with President Hoover. The impression prevailed that the meeting was initiated by Washington.

Mr. Gibson tried to get M. Herriot and Joseph Paul Boncour to accept the American disarmament plan for limiting effective arms, in addition to accepting some method of qualitative disarmament. He failed to get a favorable response.

Then he called their attention to the meeting at Lausanne where the European delegates are trying to find their own answer to the debts and reparations puzzle before approaching the United States with an appeal for cancellation.

He made it clear that the American government cannot listen to any such appeal while Europe is spending enough money every year on armaments to meet the service on the debts due the United States.

Seventy per cent of 497 prisoners interviewed at San Quentin prison in California said they had not been in a church for five years preceding their arrest, 33 had never attended a Sunday school, 60 had had no schooling beyond the lower grades. The figures seem to prove what we know, that criminals come from the ranks of neglected humanity.

WASTE OF WATER CAUSES FLOODS SCIENTISTS SAY

Washington.—"Water, water everywhere." But water is still a mystery to most people, according to speakers at the first all-water convention of the American Forestry Association in Baltimore May 26-27.

The national forestry group devoted its 57th annual meeting entirely to the subject of water "to bring forcibly to the attention of the American people the dire need for a more intelligent use and understanding of water, and the vital part which forests play in maintaining and regulating this most indispensable yet worst abused natural resource," says a bulletin of the American Game Association.

Recurring droughts, floods, the loss of millions of acres of good agricultural and through erosion, the filling of navigable streams and costly reservoirs with silt, the pollution of rivers, and the terrific, far-reaching losses resulting, are mainly due to mismanagement of water and are largely preventable, government officials, scientists and other investigators pointed out.

Clean farming, forest fires, over grazing, destruction of woods and other protective vegetation on the watersheds, and the drainage of lowlands which form natural storage places for water, were given as some of the chief causes of a devastating waste of the nation's water supply every year. It was shown that water is being made to run too rapidly off the land, so that it carries the topsoil with it, causes floods and leaves the country open to droughts. Forest soil was pictured as the best "sponge" for absorbing the water and releasing it gradually into streams, thus assuring a regular flow of water the year round.

Henry O'Malley, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, said that since fishes depend on a regular water supply, the future of fishing is at the mercy of watershed management. Paul G. Redington, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, declared the decline in the wild duck supply is largely due to drainage of natural reservoirs.

CLAIMS "BOLTS FROM THE BLUE" LOOSEN TEETH OF FARM ANIMALS

J. W. Lewellen, who has probably inspected more livestock that has been killed by lightning than any other man in the county, says that in the case of many farm animals, the teeth are loosened by the stroke. This is particularly true, he says, when the lightning has struck somewhere in the forepart of the animal's body. Skinning is the most practical way of determining whether or not an animal has been killed by lightning. Lewellen says, as the stroke causes blood clots under the skin and these may be plainly seen after the skin is removed.—Paris Appeal.

EARLY PLOWING INCREASES WHEAT YIELD IN TEST

Four and one-half bushels more wheat per acre have been grown at the Missouri Experiment Station by plowing the ground in July instead of waiting until about the middle of September.

Other experiment stations have found the advantage of early plowing to be as much as 6 bushels an acre. This means that for every week's delay in plowing the ground for wheat there will be a reduction of one-half to one bushel per acre in yield. Even with grain prices as low as they are this difference should easily pay for the earlier attention to the seedbed preparation, says O. T. Coleman, soils extension specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

With the earlier plowing, the rains which usually occur between this date and seeding time will automatically pack down the soil, greatly reducing the amount of work necessary to form the seedbed before the wheat is drilled. Usually double disking and harrowing will be all that is necessary to prepare a good seedbed where plowing has been done in July.

Not only will the July plowing make a firmer seedbed but it will allow more plant food and moisture to be available for the wheat crop. The weeds which otherwise would grow and use up water and plant nutrients are killed by the early plowing while nitrogen in soluble form is allowed to accumulate.

Furthermore, land plowed five or six inches deep in July will also serve to cover and destroy the Hessian fly when it is in the resting stage, while plowing late in the season will allow this insect to lay its eggs and spread infestation further. Where land cannot be plowed in July, it should at least be disked thoroughly so as to help control weeds and conserve moisture.

Early plowing is an important point for the wheat grower to consider in the preparation for a good seedbed with the least trouble and the biggest return. Since rainfall has been plentiful in most parts of the State so far this season early plowing should not work a hardship on those intending to put in wheat this fall. Because of this, and since one can normally expect several bushels increase per acre in the crop there seems no just reason why one should delay his plowing.

SAYS DRY ISSUE HAS PUT CHURCH IN FALSE LIGHT

Milwaukee, June 20.—Ministers who aid federal agents in prohibition raids fall short of the calling of their profession, in the opinion of the Rev. Theodore Graebner, professor of theology at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis.

"Curbing crime is a civil matter and the salvation of the human soul through the Gospel is the labor of the church," said the Rev. Graebner, who is here for the triennial synodical Lutheran convention.

"While we demand that our members obey the law, we do not believe the church should be active in the promotion of any legislation. Seven arch fiends, meeting in concert, could not have devised a more perfect means of breaking down the influence of the church than by foisting the prohibition issue upon certain denominations. Through the prohibition movement the unchurched masses have been given an entirely false idea of the duties of the church."

CHAPTER X

"Mike passed the janitor in the second floor hallway with a mere nod. Herman turned to stare after him and then quietly followed him into the apartment, into the bedroom where Mike tossed his hat upon the bed.

"What happened?" asked Herman, standing in the bedroom doorway.

"They sent her up for six months," replied Mike, dully. "Got anything to drink?"

"I thought maybe you'd be needing it," said Herman, reaching into his pocket and bringing out a flask. "Wait till I get a glass."

"What for?" Mike took the flask from Herman's hands, unscrewed the top, took several big gulps of the liquor, wiped off the mouthpiece of the flask and handed it back to Herman.

"They took the kid, too," he continued after a time, his eyes dull and downcast. "Said I wouldn't be able to take care of him."

"Well, how could you, working all night and sleeping in the days?" "Well, maybe I couldn't."

"It don't matter," he looked at the floor for a long time while Herman watched him in silence. "I can't

He hauled off suddenly and hit the man a terrific blow on the chin, knocking him unconscious on the hallway floor.

understand it," continued Mike after a time, without raising his eyes. "I just don't get it."

The janitor made as if to speak, thought better of it, but at length, perhaps through pity of the forlorn man staring dully at the floor, burst out:

"Mike, what's the good of being a sucker all your life? I'd rather take a punch on the nose than tell you this. I came into this room ahead of the cop. She didn't have nothing on her hardly. Just her pants and stockings and some sort of a shirt, or something. I don't know."

"Who? Mary?"

"Sure. That's who I'm talking about. And the fella was only half dressed."

Mike looked up with a flash of sudden interest. "What did he look like? What kind of a guy was he?"

"Oh, I don't know. He was a gentleman. He wore them patent leather shoes and everything. Smoked big cigars. See, there's the butt of one of 'em. He pointed to a half-smoked cigar on the bureau. Mike followed with his eyes the pointing finger, got up, went to the bureau and stared down at the cigar as though it were a poisonous thing. He gave a sudden choked, inarticulate cry of rage.

"If I could just get my hands on him!"

He walked to the window with drooping shoulders. After a time he turned to the janitor, almost pitifully, seeking enlightenment.

"I gave her a good home. I was goofy over her. What made her do it?"

"Mike, nobody knows what makes 'em do it. I've had three wives—and there wasn't one of 'em worth a hoot."

"But with a baby and a swell home and everything. Acting like a dirty—"

He sank down on the edge of the bed in utter despair, leaning his head in his hands.

"Ah, Mike, take another drink," said the sympathetic janitor, handing him the flask. Mike emptied it.

"It ain't got any bite to it. I don't feel it."

Herman patted Mike on the shoulder and took the empty flask.

"Why don't you lie down, Mike, and take a good sleep?"

"Yeah, I guess I will. I guess maybe that's what I need." He stood up and began to take off his coat.

"So long, Mike," said the janitor, looking back from the bedroom doorway.

"So long, Herman."

Left alone, Mike looked down at the bed where Mary's nightdress lay, as though she had put it out ready to slip on. He suddenly reached out for it with an inarticulate sort of a cry and crushed it between his hands. He slumped down on the bed with a hoarse sigh, almost a sob, while his fingers twisted nervously at the filmy nightgown.

He was on the verge of breaking up completely when there came a cautious knock at the outer door. The thought suddenly flashed through his mind that perhaps Mary had somehow got away and had come home. He went quickly to open the door. Instead of Mary, there stood a thick-set burly man with a brown mustache. At the confused smile that came over the man's face Mike was convinced that he had expected Mary to open the door, and he began to boil within. He heard the door of the apartment next to his open and then sharply shut, but he did not care who might

WELDON FULBRIGHT SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

Doniphan, Mo., June 21.—Weldon Fulbright, son of Congressman and Mrs. James F. Fulbright, of Doniphan, was receiving treatment at his home here today for wounds suffered in a peculiar accident in the north part of Doniphan late yesterday.

Fulbright had stopped at a local store, purchased a .22 calibre rifle and went to a filling station in north Doniphan. The gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet causing a painful but not serious wound.

"There—that's more like it," "Here—that's a statue—she's not alive," said Lil, and sat down on the davenport beside Mike.

"Aw, that's so people'll know my wife for what she really is after this."

"She certainly played you a dirty trick, all right."

"Shut up! I'll do all the talking about her. And there ain't got to be any—not any more there ain't. Out of my life, you little tramp!"

He knocked the statue off the table with a wide and uncertain gesture.

"Oh, don't get tight," said Lil.

"I'm going to get so tight that—"

"Oh, no, you're not! You're going to stay sober—so you and I can have a lot of fun. What do you say, shall we?" She smiled into his eyes, leaning as close that their shoulders touched.

"Sure. Let's have some fun! She can, I guess I can, too. How about it? Watch this, Mrs. Thomas."

He took Lil in his arms and kissed her lips.

"What do you keep thinking about her for?" smiled Lil.

"I'm not. I. I'll show her. I'll show you, mean." He picked her up and sat her on his lap, kissing her violently.

"Oh, but you're strong!" said Lil.

"Wait a minute, darling, while I go and put on something more comfortable."

"Yeah, sure, put on something more... comfortable."

His hands slid down her sides over her hips, down her thighs as she arose. She leaned down, kissed him, laughed softly, picked up her suitcase and fled into the bedroom.

Mike got up from the davenport, took a step after her, and sat down again with a grunt, uncertain as his legs.

Lil took a dressing gown out of her suitcase, slipped off her dress and was unfastening her combination when she heard a crash and the thud of a body on the floor at the sitting room. Without stopping to put on the dressing gown, she ran out. The table was knocked over and Mike lay on the floor breathing heavily.

"Out like a light," said Lil.

BRILLIANT WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN C'STON FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 17

Charleston, June 18.—One of the most brilliant nuptial events of the season was the wedding of Miss Myrtle Goodin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Goodin of this city and George Wynn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith of Tiptonville, Tenn., which took place Friday evening, June 17th at the Goodin home on North Main Street. Rev. P. A. Kasey, pastor of the Methodist Church of this city performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends on the spacious lawn of the home where an improvised altar was arranged. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Jess Hall, lyric soprano, rendered "At Dawning", by Cadman, and "When Hearts Are Young" from "The Lady in Ermine". She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Moffat Latimer, who also played Mendelssohn's wedding march for the processional.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Vernon Goodin, was lovely in her wedding gown of silk chantilly lace over rich lustrous satin. The dress fashioned after the prevailing mode with high waisted bodice, round neck, had long full sleeves, terminating in elbow length cuff. Her veil of illusion and lace was arranged in cap shape and caught with orange blossoms. The veil fell to the ends of her long train and each end was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms.

She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Eleanor Richardson of Mt. Vernon, Ill., who served as maid of honor, was attractively gowned in pale yellow mousseline de soie, over taffeta.

Miss Sara Smith of Tiptonville, Tenn., sister of the groom, Miss Reid Hill of Little Rock, Ark., Miss Virginia Heggie and Mrs. Tom Byrd of this city served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of green mousseline de soie, fashioned like that of the maid of honor. Their sashes were yellow and carried arm bouquets of yellow snap dragons and orchid sweetpeas.

Little Misses Anne Goodin, sister of the bride, and Eddie Hill of Little Rock, Ark., served as flower girls.

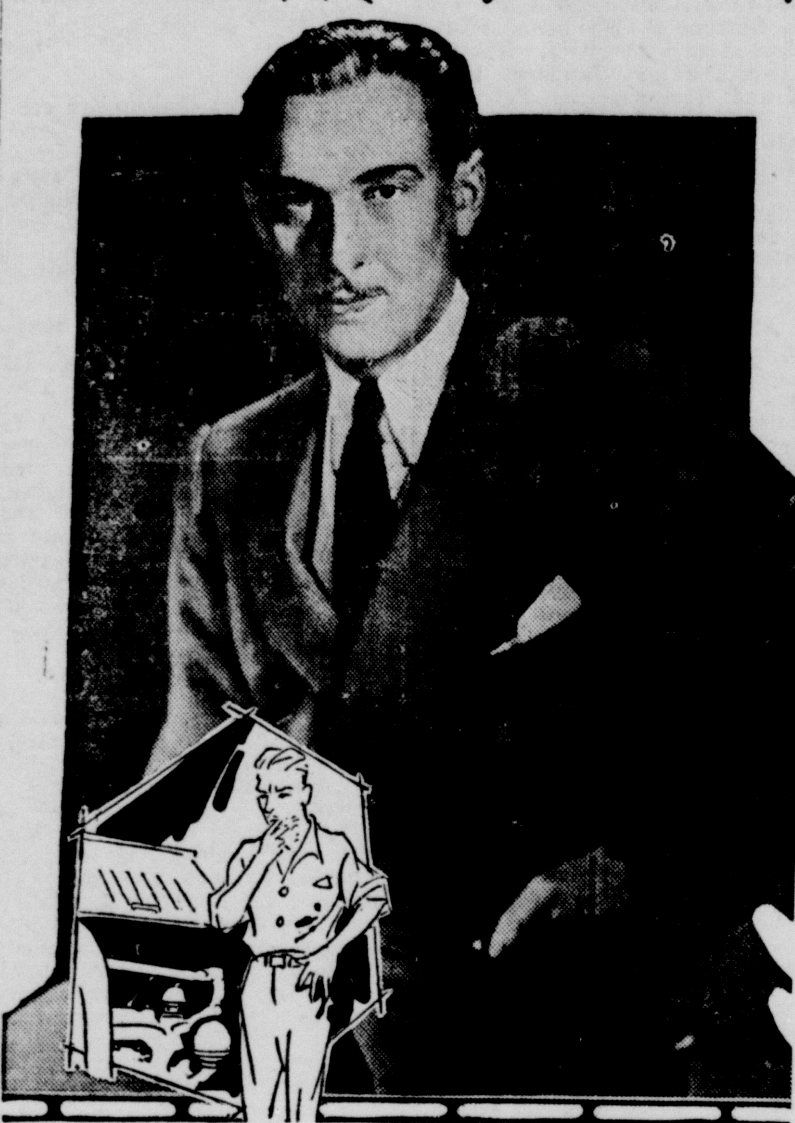

The two ring bearers, Mary Ella Barbee of this city, and Mary Anne Smith of Bonne Terre, cousins of the bride, carried a tiny gold colored basket, decorated in a large calla lily, in which rested the wedding ring.

Harry Smith, of Tiptonville, Tenn., served as best man and the ushers were Hugh Swayne of Hickman, Ky., Willie B. Reeves and Prentiss Wynn of Tiptonville, and Sam Cox Goodin of this city, a brother of the bride. Each of the men wore buttonieres of lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and the three hundred guests present were served a delicious ice course in the colors of pink and white.

The wedding cake, a three tier cake, decorated in a miniature bride and groom, and surrounded by lovely spring flowers, formed a central decoration for the bride's table which was arranged on the lawn. During the reception, the guests viewed the large array of

PAUL LUKAS

IT IS not easy to break through the somber reserve of Paul Lukas. Talk of golf or tennis or painting or books and you get a politely bored smile. But mention carburetors or allorons or altitude records and the conversation is saved. Flying has been his principal hobby since the World war, when he held a commission in the Hungarian Air Corps. Not only does he fly often and with professional skill but he can take an airplane engine apart and put it together again. He keeps abreast of mechanical progress in aviation. Scientific books and magazines are his favorite reading.

Second only to the airplane, the racing car is his dearest hobby. His own machine, built low with racing lines, may be seen almost daily, flashing along California speedways. Often the dignified Lukas features emerge from beneath the hood, streaked with oil and dirt.

handsome wedding gifts, which were arranged on tables in the reception rooms of the home.

The bride and groom left by motor for a wedding trip, keeping their destination a secret.

The bride was born and reared at her home in this city. She was graduated from Charleston high school, later attended Lindnewood College, at St. Charles and completed her education at Texarkana Junior College, Texarkana, Tex.

Following her graduation she taught one year in the high school in that city. For the past two years she has been a member of the faculty of the Eugene Field school of this city.

Mr. Smith attended Phillips Exeter College, Exeter, New Hampshire, then completed his education at Harvard University. He is a well known young society and business man of Tiptonville and is engaged in looking after his large farm interests in that district.

The young couple will reside in Tiptonville.

Prior to the wedding the bride and groom have been the honorees of many delightful social affairs in this city.

GOD'S BIBLE CLASS ORGANIZED

A group of young people have organized a Bible Class to meet each Monday night in the basement of the local church of the Nazarenes.

The lessons are to include the teachings from Genesis to Revelation and are to contain no church doctrine. The aim of the class is

He will work for hours to get the carburetor adjusted to the precisely right point.

So his hobbies present a nice paradox. A continental, often homesick for his native land and depressed by the hustle of America—but with a mania for speed. A sensitive man who defied his practical family to follow his art—but who loves everything mechanical.

In his history, too, contrast abounds. As the son of a successful business man in Budapest, he knew ease and the promise of a secure future. After the break with his family and while he struggled to establish himself in the theater, he knew days when he dodged the landlord and spent his last penny for chocolate bars to sustain him while he worked as a super in the Budapest Actors' Academy. The war taught him physical and mental suffering and Hollywood has given him luxury and fame.

to learn more of God's word in the fullness of His love and be able to understand just how to live a better christian life.

The first meeting was held June 13. At this time the class was organized and given the name of "God's Bible Class". Ira Chaney was elected as president and Bill Humphrey as vice president.

The second meeting was held June 20 with 32 members present. The class with Rev. J. A. Duncan as teacher, thoroughly discussed the first chapter of Genesis.

Anyone who is interested and wants to learn more about God's word, is cordially invited to attend each meeting on each Monday evening at 7:45.

132 ATTEND AUXILIARY BENEFIT WHICH NETS $50.00 TO HOSPITAL

Approximately $50 cash was turned over to the Emergency Hospital fund by the American Legion Auxiliary which last Tuesday evening sponsored a benefit bridge at the Hotel Marshall. Twenty-eight tables accommodated 132 players attracted by a multitude of prizes donated for the occasion by local business men and firms.

Last Monday afternoon members of the Auxiliary carried boxes and baskets of food and useful articles to the Hospital, retaining the items which could not be used by the institution for bridge prizes. This donated material amounted to about $25.00.

News of the Town

By Mrs. C. M. Harris, Phone 581

The following were dinner guests Monday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tippy, north of Miner: Mrs. Lue Shelton and Miss Frances Evers of Metropolis, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Claud Bonifield and children of Rosiclare, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Dave Klinge and children of Bloomingdale, and Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Taylor and children and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tippy of Sikeston.

Mrs. Lue Shelton and Miss Frances Evers returned to their home at Metropolis, Ill., Wednesday after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner and family west of Sikeston. Mrs. Shelton is a cousin of Mrs. Tippy.

Ewell, Jr., and Betty Barger returned Monday evening from Portageville, where they visited the past three weeks with their father, Ewell Barger, Sr. Mr. Barger accompanied his children to Sikeston.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown of St. Louis visited Monday at the G. H. Barger home. From Sikeston they went to Fornefeld for a visit with Mrs. Brown's brother, Ben Tompaw, and family, before going on to Princeton, Ind., for a visit with Mrs. Brown's mother.

Mrs. P. H. Stevenson and Mrs. C. B. Beauchamp of Hillsboro, Ill., visited at the Charles Hutchason home of Tanner. Mrs. Stevenson returned home, but Mrs. Beauchamp remained for a longer visit with Miss Edith Darby, who is at the Hutchason home.

Misses Ellenore and Lorene Harris, Margaret Harris, Leslie Mae Allen, Dessie Lee Smith and Rosemary Wells, Girl Scouts of Benton took plunges in the water of the Chaney Natatorium Wednesday afternoon. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Clark Ellzey, Scout Master.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. L. Matthews and sons, Joe and Bob, leave for the Far West Tuesday to be away for five weeks. They expect to visit the Yosemite, California, Oregon and Washington States. Also, the Yellowstone Park.

Miss Martha Winter of Paola, Kansas, has been visiting Miss Mayme Jean Wilbur this week. Several dinners, parties and outings have been given in this young lady's honor during her stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar White had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Donlin and son of Houston, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Farrin of Cairo and Mrs. F. P. White and son, Nolan, of Bertrand.

Dr. Kendig, surgeon at the Emergency Hospital, was confined to his home Tuesday with some sort of stomach disorder.

Mrs. Wesley Lair, of Charleston, who recently underwent an operation at the Emergency Hospital, was here Tuesday for observation. She is regaining her strength very nicely.

After reading a detective story in which the eyes of the murdered man retained a picture of his slayer, Deputy Sheriff C. T. Hargrove of Wilmington, N. C., decided to test out the possibilities of such a clue. When Richard Lacewell, a negro, was found shot to death, Hargrove had the dead man's eyes photographed. Enlargements revealed a clear image of Lyman Graham, another negro, Hargrove states. At any rate, when Graham was confronted with the picture he promptly confessed the murder implicating Lewis Banks, who also confessed.

Sparrows saved the day for little seven-year-old Glenna Joyce Grace, of Elmer, when she decided to surprise her mother who was at work at the bank, by baking a chocolate cake. Glenna Joyce looked for eggs and found they had all been used, but she wouldn't let that stop her. Some sparrows had a nest in the front porch roof at their home and she climbed up to the nest, secured the eggs and used them. The Elmer correspondent reports that her cake was of surprising light texture. It is determined people like Glenna Joyce that get through the world the best.—LaPlata Home-Press.

A Change For the Better

All our new furniture has been assembled on east side of ground floor. This enables us to use the west room of ground floor which is partitioned off, for the sale of reconditioned articles which have been traded in on new. Nothing in this section is offered for sale until it is put into good working order hence this new arrangement where everything may be seen easily and without climbing stairs should prove popular. There seems to be a good many customers looking for serviceable items at very small cost. This new department will be headquarters for that type of household goods.

Democrats Meet Monday To Select Party Head

The ancient two-thirds majority rule of the party may be sidetracked Monday when Democratic State and National leaders meet in Chicago to select the standard bearer. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Al Smith, Speaker Garner, Gov. Richie, James A. Reed and Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray are listed as starters in the race for the presidential nomination.

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Senator Dickinson's "keynote" speech was so full of dynamite that some Republican papers only printed parts of it.

One of Jack Dill's boys is operating the hole-in-the-wall next to Sparks' barber shop and would be glad to sell you popcorn, cold drinks and sandwiches.

The gist of Senator Dickinson's "keynote" speech seems to have been that the world would have come to an end several years ago if Hoover had not been President.

The month of June has been a hot one for certain. A fellow couldn't set down for long spells or he would stick to the chair. Then, again, soap and water come high in these Hoover times.

Not knowing anything of the makings, but being a bystander, we give it as heard. "To a 5-gallon jar use only 2½ pounds of sugar, 1½ pounds of honey, and leave out the yeast. It makes the very best." This must be a cough mixture of some sort.

Every bit of garden truck that can be put up this summer should be canned for winter. The wolf may not howl at your door, but may frighten your neighbor. Be ready to help. Though it now looks as though the drouth will wipe out gardens before they come into bearing.

The editor was hustled out of the office hurriedly Monday afternoon to see a sight in a car parked on Front Street. It was a good-looking Oak Park, Ill., girl, smoking a cigarette, her back naked as far as visible, but having a front of some sort tied by narrow strings around the neck. It was all right though.

New parking signs have been put up on Front Street limiting the parking to one hour. This looks like a sensible thing to do and New Madrid Street might have been included. One hour is plenty for any ordinary business to be transacted and gives the next fellow an opportunity to trade and carry goods to car without having to park several blocks away.

My goodness! Senator Borah says Republican Convention policies "fell dead at feet of American people" and the platform a "monstrosity". He says he will not back Hoover on such a platform. And he is the same Mr. Borah who deceived the voters of the Great Northwest in the last Presidential election, when he interpreted the last platform to suit the occasion. Mr. Borah will vote for Mr. Hoover just the same at the November election.

Unless most of our merchants go on the cash basis, we don't see how they can sell on credit, pay the revenue tax and carry on. One merchant told the editor that his credit accounts had trebled in the last three months, and another said a majority of charge accounts were doubtful. With the tax that the merchant must pay into the Government, but a few months would see their finish. It would be much better to have goods on the shelf, do less business, than to sell large quantities on doubtful accounts.

There will be many Congressmen return to their home districts fearful of their reception. It will be a hard matter for either political partisan to "point with pride" to the accomplishments of the session about to close. They appropriated great sums to relieve Big Business and the Corporations, but to help the ten million people out of employment, not a cent. And the worst thing is: There is nothing in sight for the unemployed except hunger, hardships and food riots the coming winter. The Red Cross will have a hard time raising funds to alleviate the suffering because the lemon has almost been squeezed dry by the depression that has closed banks, lowered stocks and bonds until those heretofore giving liberally are now without funds to give.

We are 100 per cent for Russell Dearth and have nothing but a very high regard for Francis M. Wilson, his opponent. Russell is young, forceful, clean, honest and able to make an aggressive campaign if nominated. Francis M. Wilson is older, is just as honest, just as clean, but unable to carry the fight to the people if nominated. He will have to depend on his friends to make his fight. Russell Dearth is one of us down in Southeast Missouri and why he should miss a vote down here would be hard to understand. If he doesn't carry the Southeast Missouri Counties almost solid it will fool us.

OLD SOL CAUSES TWO BLOWUPS ON NO. 60 WEDNESDAY

Even reinforced concrete in this section of Missouri is registering disapproval of continued dry, hot weather.

The sun Wednesday afternoon managed to push mercury in the official government thermometer to 97, which proved sufficient to cause a Highway 60 "blowup" about one-half mile east of the first ditch, east of Sikeston. Traffic was halted for a short time, while a temporary detour could be constructed, and a repair crew brought to the scene to make permanent repairs. The break raised the road approximately one foot over a 10 to 12-foot area.

A smaller "blowup", though on a similar scale was reported by Highway officials Tuesday afternoon, west of Charleston on the half-and-half concrete portion of Highway 60.

Several days will be required to affect permanent repairs.

NAZARENE CHURCH WILL HOLD ALL-DAY SERVICES

The local Nazarene church will hold all-day services Monday, July 4, at the church on Stoddard Street. At this time a joint rally consisting of N. Y. P. S. and W. F. M. S. will be held.

The following churches in this zone will have representatives present. Charleston, Dexter, Morehouse, Bernie, Bell City, Malden, Caruthersville and Poplar Bluff. Among those present will be District President, N. Y. P. S., Stanley Whitkac, of St. Louis; District Superintendent, Rev. J. W. Roach, of St. Louis, and District President of W. F. M. S., Mrs. J. W. Hoffer, of St. Louis.

A basket dinner will be served at noon. Everybody is invited to attend and bring well filled baskets. There will be special speakers for the occasion, including Rev. J. W. Roach, Rev. J. E. Smith of Caruthersville, Stanley Whitkac and Rev. J. H. Holt of Malden.

CHECK TAX BEING SCOUTED BY MANY

Many persons and several large business firms in the city have made arrangements to avoid payment of the two-cent-per-check tax effective last Tuesday, when a long list of federal levies went into effect on many regularly used commodities and services.

Both Sikeston banks, the Morehouse Trust Company and several private firms have made arrangements for receipt blanks to be used in lieu of checks. They are tax exempt according to a ruling from the under secretary of the United States Treasury Department.

The items merely state "Received of blank Bank or Trust Company, blank dollars of the amount due me on my account". These receipts are not negotiable.

Several firms who issue checks numbering several hundred per day have tentatively agreed to use the same system. Checks drafted in the regular manner will be issued by these firms collectable at a specified place. When presented for redemption, the treasurer or secretary draws one check from the bank, and redeems any number of the other items which might have accumulated.

FARMINGTON POST OFFICE READY JULY 1

Farmington, June 21.—Farmington's new postoffice building will be completed by July 1, according to contractors in charge. It will be occupied by about the first of August.

FUR THIEF BOUND OVER AT LILBOURN

New Madrid, June 22.—Wade Gross of Lilbourn was taken into custody Saturday night by Sheriff A. F. Stanley and Constables Lane and Wilkins, on a charge of burglary and larceny.

Gross was given a preliminary hearing before Justice Val Perkins of Lilbourn, Monday and bound over to the Circuit Court. In the meantime he is in jail unable to fill bond.

According to witnesses at the preliminary hearing, Gross entered the house of Burley Rhodes and took a quantity of furs on December 12th last, and sold them in New Madrid. Officers were unable to locate Gross until last Saturday night.

Lewis Moore of Lilbourn was bound over to the Circuit Court by Justice Val Perkins of Lilbourn Monday, on a charge of felonious assault. It was alleged that Moore assaulted W. F. Canamore with a monkey wrench. Moore is in the County Jail unable to fill bond.

Democratic Friends Plan Monster Dearmont Rally For July 21 Near Madrid

Tentative plans were perfected Tuesday night by representatives from six or eight Southeast Missouri Counties for a mammoth free barbecue and rally for Senator R. L. Dearmont to be held at Bullocks Grove, about two miles north of New Madrid, July 21.

The committee meeting in charge of J. V. Conran was held at the County Court House, New Madrid, where a site and date were selected, and additional committees on arrangements and program were appointed.

The grove located north of New Madrid on Highway 61 contains about forty acres and is said to be ideally located for the occasion. Those who have had charge of similar affairs, although on a smaller scale, estimated that at least 150 animals would be necessary to feed the estimated crowd of 10,000 persons.

Senator Dearmont, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Missouri, has constantly gained strength in Central and North Missouri. His friends in Southeast Missouri believe that they owe a vote of confidence to their fellow Southeast Missourians, and decided to stage the monster demonstration at which Mr. Dearmont has agreed to appear and speak.

76 Attend Canning Demonstration Monday

The joint meeting of Neighborhood Women's Clubs of Scott County held a meeting at New Hamburg Monday, at which time Miss Flora Lee Carl, of the College of Agriculture demonstrated methods of canning. This meeting was attended by 76 women, composed of the Clubs at New Hamburg, Bleda district, the Head School district, the Saledo area and the Miner Switch area with 4-H Canning Club at Morley led by Mrs. A. C. McMullin attending. This is the first of four joint meetings that will be held and it was freely expressed that the attendance at the next meeting would probably be larger than this meeting.

The discussion and demonstration was on the Canning of Fruits, Vegetables, Meats and Chicken. The following are extracts from reports of the meetings of the clubs since organization:

The Bleda Neighborhood Women's Club in its first meeting took up "new ways of making sandwiches" at the home of Mrs. Louis Dohogne with Mrs. Charles Diebold taking charge of the demonstration. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tony Reiminger at which time they will take up the cooking of vegetables.

They believe in mixing in some recreation in with their meetings, as their report shows that they played games. The Bleda Club took in four new members at this last meeting.

The Head Neighborhood Women's Club at Ilmo met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Lee with five members attending and two visitors. They took up Sewing and Cutting out of various apron patterns. At the next meeting they will take up further work on sewing. They also had a needle threading contest to add some recreation to their meeting.

The New Hamburg Club at its last meeting had 17 members present and took up the discussion on Smoking and Fancy stitches with Miss Dorothy Hahn acting as leader. Each of the members also made samples during the meeting.

The Willing Workers Club at Saledo has had two meetings. The first meeting they took up the Canning of Spinach. Mrs. Sayers Tanner leading the discussion. Their second meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Fenimore at which time Miss Pearl Allard led the meeting on Preserving and Jelly Making, and reported by Mrs. Doyle Lackey that interest is increasing in their club.

The Miner Merry Matrons met and organized a club at the home of Mrs. W. A. Moreau and elected their officers: President, Mrs. Ben Matthews; Vice President, Mrs. J. E. Eubank; secretary, Mrs. Wade Malcolm; Treasurer, Mrs. W. F. Woods, Mrs. W. A. Moreau, Game and Song Leader and Mrs. Henderson Howard as Child Development Chairman. This new club has a total of 15 members. They outlined their program for the balance of the year for use of material from the College of Agriculture.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT PARMA JUNE 29

Langdon R. Jones and Orville Zimmerman Will Be Principal Speakers

Plans have been completed for the holding of a big Democratic Rally at Parma on Wednesday, June 29th, when Democrats from not only New Madrid county, but adjoining counties will be present. The rally is being sponsored by Henry Dill and Mrs. Rosa M. Hall, committeeman and committeewoman of Como township, and other Democrats of Como township.

The rally will be held in the new school gymnasium, which is capable of accommodating 2000 and will be held regardless of weather conditions. The speaking is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. The Kennett band has been engaged to furnish music before and after the speaking.

The principal speakers for the rally are Hon. Langdon R. Jones and Hon. Orville Zimmerman, both of Kennett. Both these gentlemen are eloquent orators and will speak to the voters on the political issues of the day. They are capable men and versed on the present campaign issues. State and County candidates will also be present at the rally and will be introduced from the speakers' stage.

All voters of whatever political belief, are invited to attend the rally. Ladies are especially urged to attend.

CANALOU CHURCH SERVICES

An all day church service is to be held at Canalou, July 4, with the co-operation of other churches in the district. Services will begin at 10:45 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. C. B. Beauchamp of Hillsboro, Ill., and Miss Edith Darby were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Arthur Tuesday night and Wednesday.

SHOP LIFTER DRUNK RELEASED BY POLICE

Bill Crews of Doniphan, caught in the act of shoplifting five men's shirts from the Peoples Store during the noon hour Wednesday, was released Thursday morning, after spending a night in the Sikeston city jail.

Crews entered the store and priced shirts for several minutes. Miss Hocker, clerk, the only member of the sales force present at the time, noticed him a few minutes later walking out of the place with five shirts under his arm. Her screams of "robber" and "shop thief" brought Bob Law and Ted Higgins to the rescue. Crews was too drunk to run, according to witnesses, and readily returned his loot.

After the shoplifter had spent a night in the holdover, Nathan Yoffie, owner of the store, declined to prosecute and his release followed after Crews agreed to leave this vicinity.

GRABER'S 48-INCH EXHAUST FAN INSTALLED

Patrons of Graber's Store here attending the 13th Anniversary Sale are feeling the benefits of a 48-inch electric exhaust fan installed by workmen of the Board of Public Works this week.

The monster fan pulls thousands of cubic feet of air through the store, and affects a complete change of air every minutes. Those who cut through the alley in back of the store, it has been noticed, halt for a few minutes when they reach this blower in order to take full advantage of the air rush pulled through the shutters.

The Anniversary Sale event which started last week, has met with signal success according to the local store manager. Graber's are celebrating their thirtieth year in Southeast Missouri, and offer a multitude of bargains in seasonable merchandise.

ADVANCE AGENT OF KING COTTON ARRIVES JUNE 20

First cotton blossoms!! Southeast Missourians and everyone else interested in the welfare of King Cotton are engaged in their annual contest, showing first cotton blossoms.

The first flower of the season to come to this office was shown Thursday morning by G. J. Deane, agent for Southeast Missouri Farms, Inc., and manager of about 5000 acres of land in this district. The first blossom appeared on June 20 on land farmed by Walter Brooks, three or four miles north of Lilbourn. Two days later a blossom was picked from a twenty acre tract farmed by Jim Raines on the same plantation.

Mr. Deane advanced the thought that June 20 was unusually early for cotton blossoms in this area, but that cotton right now could use a long, slow general rain to very good advantage. Most of the 2000 acres in cotton near Lilbourn is up about knee high, clean and in first class condition.

SCOTT COUNTIANS WIN 4-H HONORS

The Scott County Delegation of 4-H Club members to the Irondale Camp made an excellent showing. In studies and instruction and tests on 4-H Club work and in identification of weeds and their studies, four members tied for first honor. Two of whom were Scott County Club members, Miss Cecily Dammmeuler of Kelso and the other Miss Viola Arnold of Anell. It was decided to make a drawing for the one to receive the prize, donated by the Purina Feed Mills for the highest ranking club member and Miss Dammmeuler won the draw.

In the fourteen entries in the stunt contest, Scott County won third place with the stunt team composed of members of the Anell and Kelso Clubs. In the song contest, Scott County was represented by the Meel Planning Club members of Benton who won second place. Club members endeavored to keep their cabins neat and tidy and a banner was awarded to the cabin each day which was in best order. Each time the banner was won by the cabin occupied by members of the Anell Club. This was the first time this has ever happened in the history of the club camp and the banner was given them to keep permanent.

A popular vote was held by the entire camp as to the most popular 4-H Club leader, attending camp. This honor went to Rev. C. E. Elzey, Garden Club Leader at Benton. He also was the camp bugler and delivered the Flag Day address to the entire camp.

Blue and Red Achievement ribbons were offered in accordance to quality of work done at the camp. Scott County received 24 blue ribbons as follows: Ilmo, Martha Ann Craig, Martha Jane Deaton, Mabel Roth and Dorothy Eifert. At Anell and Kelso; Cecily Dammmeuler, Bernice Dopp, Delphine Enderle, Viola Arnold, Doris Welter, Helen Welter, Leonard Schumacher, Catherine Glasser and James McLain. At Benton: Virginia Eldridge, Frances Lucas, Anna Lee Lucas and Margaret Adams.

Sikeston: Raymond Toney, John Bowman, Charles Yanson, Roberta Aldridge, Gwendolyn Eubank and Floyd Woods. Red Ribbons were given to Geneva Aldridge of Sikeston, Doris Lee Smith of Benton and Marjorie Welter of Kelso.

Instructions were given in swimming for beginners by the Boy Scout Swimming Instructor and beginners swimming builds were won by eight who passed this test, while three of the older members won a certificate for a swimmer class as given by the American Red Cross.

Nine cars were required to take the group up there and back and the Sikeston Lions Club and Benton's Lions Club and Ilmo-Fornell Rotary Club assisted financially in paying for gas and oil for those who donated the use of their cars.

DANCE! WHY NOT?

Local dance fans will have the pleasure of dancing again this Friday night in the Armory from 9:30 till 12 to the rhythmic strains of the local Missouri Melody Aces' popular tunes.

Incidentally several large fans have been provided for cooler air circulation and dancing comfort.

Picnic For Eastern Stars

The local chapter of Eastern Stars, their husbands and wives will enjoy a picnic supper at the Odd Fellows Hall this evening (Thursday) beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Approximately 100 persons are expected to attend.

Money Cached Under Rug In Morehouse Stolen; Two Alleged Thieves Jailed

Special to The Standard

Morehouse, Mo., July 22.—Two men charged with the theft of $81 cash which had been hidden under a rug in the home of "Thumb" Colliers, local poultry dealer, were in the county jail today at New Madrid. Arrests were made by Snowball James, constable.

Lyman Towery and Pat Gray, both of this city, according to information furnished officers, induced a Morehouse girl to call Colliers to the door of his home, other members of the family being away, while the men entered the rear door and removed the money.

The theft was discovered early last Saturday morning, but the two suspects were not found immediately.

Gray was apprehended here Monday, while Towery was picked up in Cape Girardeau the day following.

It was alleged here today that Towery was in the house Friday and located the place where the money was hidden. The plan of luring Colliers to the door and of obtaining the loot, all in bills, was easily effected.

A preliminary hearing for the two men, charged with grand larceny, has not yet been set.

S. H. D EMPLOYEE FATHER OF EIGHT DIES MONDAY P. M.

S. E. Hesley, employed by the Missouri State Highway Department for the past eight years as patrolman on the Gray Ridge-Dexter route, Highway 60, died unexpectedly last Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock while at work.

Hesley and Cletus Cox were engaged in moving right-of-way between Fisk and Dudley, with Hesley riding the mower. Cox was pulling the machine with a truck. About 2:30 o'clock that afternoon, Hesley complained of a burning sensation in his throat which extended later to his stomach. His companion stopped the truck and both rested for a few minutes. Thirty minutes after they started back to work, Hesley complained of acute pains, and decided to take the remainder of the afternoon off and go home. The two men started for Dexter in the truck, but Hesley collapsed on the way. He was left in the front yard of a farm house, while Cox continued to Dexter, returning shortly with Dr. LaRue, who pronounced Hesley dead when he arrived.

Mr. Hesley was 47 years old, and the father of eight children. The family lived in Essex where funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon.

Farmer Dies Heat Victim

Poplar Bluff, June 22.—John Gean, 24, a farmer, died today the first heat victim of the year. He became exhausted while at work a week ago.

CHICKEN THIEF RAIDS DAVID ALLARD ROOST

The third chicken robbery in four weeks was reported Thursday morning about 2 o'clock by David Allard, farmer living north of the city. His brother, Lacy Allard, Bank of Sikeston employee, accompanied by Constable Brown Jewell and Deputy Nall drove to the scene immediately, and later that morning tracked the lone rooster robber to town.

Seven birds had been sold to a local market, where one member of the firm stated he might be able to identify the man. A bloodhound from Cape Girardeau was brought to the Allard farm and readily picked up the trail.

An arrest was predicted Thursday afternoon.

SIKESTON DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS TO BE AT CAMPBELL RALLY

The local Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will be one of several musical organizations to attend the District American Legion Convention to be held at Campbell next Sunday, June 23. Chaffee will send the 140th Infantry band.

Indications point to a large attendance from most of the more than a score of Posts throughout the Fourteenth Congressional District. Representatives are expected from each of the sixteen counties comprising the district with an additional group from several posts in Northeast Arkansas.

Post Commander Henry Lowndale announced today that preparations have been completed for the entertainment of the ex-soldiers and members of the Auxiliary to the tune of about 2000 participants.

The primary purpose of the gathering, as announced from the State Department of the Legion, is that of perfecting plans for the annual Armistice Day celebration and of taking care of other executive problems that confront the organization.

HOTTEST DAY IS NOT SO HOT, LAST YEAR CONSIDERED

According to heat records kept by Roy V. Ellis, superintendent of schools here, the weather this week and last has been behaving beautifully compared with unusually high marks established last summer. It should be noted in passing that Mr. Ellis' thermometer is not an official, corrected instrument, and that the temperatures recorded will probably vary two or three degrees with the Government mercury tube.

However, June 22, Wednesday this week, was the hottest day on record this year according to Mr. Ellis. The temperature rose to an even 100, while one year ago, it stood seven degrees higher.

Other marks set last summer include 110 degrees on July 10, and 111 degrees on July 28. Again in August the mercury shoved up to 110.

GAS RATES HIKED BY NEW FEDERAL TAX

Since midnight Tuesday, provided gasoline has been purchased in the meantime, it has cost United States owners of "gas buggies" one cent more per gallon to operate automobiles and trucks. A federal tax of one cent per gallon went into effect at that time on gasoline, and a similar tax of 4 cents per gallon on motor oils.

Price schedules here were hiked Wednesday morning to the following rates, high test 19.7 per gallon, regular 16.7 cents and "blue" gas 13.1. Oil prices were quoted at 16, 26, 31 and 36 cents per quart, depending upon quality.

The one-cent federal tax on gasoline brought about a one-tenth cent per gallon raise on all gasoline to help absorb pipe line tax, and incidental collection expenses.

MRS. ELSIE DAVIS WEDS TRENTON MAN

Mrs. Elsie Davis of this city, school teacher and former Sikeston Standard employee, surprised friends here this week with the announcement that last Sunday she was married to C. U. Alexander, professor of chemistry at Trenton College, Trenton, Mo.

The wedding ceremony was performed last Sunday afternoon, 3 o'clock in the parlor of the Evangelical church, St. Louis, with Dr. W. F. Simon reading the service.

Mr. Alexander and family will move to Trenton the latter part of this week, and will be at home there. Mr. Alexander is head of the chemistry department of Trenton College.

The Standard joins Mrs. Alexander's many local friends in wishing the couple success and happiness.

BREW FLOWS FREELY DURING PARMA RAID

New Madrid, June 23.—A raid made Friday night at Parma by Sheriff A. F. Stanley and Constable Lane and Wilkins resulted in the arrest of B. Mays of Parma for possession of intoxicating liquor.

According to officers, a ten-gallon keg and four gallon jugs of whiskey were confiscated and about 180 pint bottles of home brew beer destroyed on the premises. About twenty gallons of brew mash were also destroyed. Mays filed bond for his appearance in Circuit Court following his arrest.

DeWitt—C. H. Hickerson installed display counter refrigerator.

Marceline—Woodrow Burgener purchased miniature golf course across street from St. Bonaventure school.

FIRE DESTROYS DRY CLEANER'S TRUCK MONDAY

Fire destroyed the delivery truck belonging to the Sikeston Cleaning Company Monday afternoon near Miner on Highway 60. A mechanic had reworked the machine and had the truck out for a test run, when the fire occurred. The Sikeston fire department made a run at 5:10 o'clock Tuesday evening to the Alvin Taylor residence on North Ranney. A defective ironing cord shorted and caused much excitement but slight damage.

MADRID 4-H CLUBBERS WIN CAMP HONORS

New Madrid, June 20.—Four New Madrid County 4-H Club members, with their Club Leader and County Agent, attended the 4-H Club Regional Club Camp at Irondale last week.

This camp for fourteen Southeast Missouri Counties had 170 Club members and leaders in attendance. Instruction was given the Club members on proper methods of conducting 4-H Clubs, in identifying weeds, in playing group games and in swimming and first aid.

New Madrid County Members may well be proud of the record of their members at this camp. All of the New Madrid Club members in attendance at the camp were awarded blue ribbons for the excellence of their work, and one of the Club members, Margaret Haywood of Canalou, received the highest grade given at the camp. She was awarded this honor at last year's camp also. Regional Club Camps such as was held at Irondale last week offer exceptional opportunities for self improvement to Club members. The instruction they receive in classes, their contacts with leaders and Club members from other counties, their competition in study and in games with boys and girls other than those in their local Club of school helps to build up their self confidence and shows in the improvement of the Club members work in succeeding years.

It is hoped that next year, a much larger number of New Madrid Club members will be able to attend this camp.

CHAS. M. HAY TO SPEAK HERE JUNE 30

Arrangements are being made today for a meeting at the City Hall here at 7:30 o'clock, June 30, at which time Charles M. Hay, Democratic candidate for Senator from this State, will speak.

Mr. Hay is one of the most polished speakers in the State and promises to be present with his usual brilliant interpretation of governmental policy, as related to present-day conditions.

J. J. MAYFIELD FUNERAL RITES ARE CONDUCTED

Lutesville, June 22.—Funeral services for John J. Mayfield, Civil War veteran and member of a family in which there have been five doctors in two generations, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Mayfield, Bollinger County.

Mr. Mayfield, nearly 94 years old, succumbed at his home at Mayfield of complications on Monday. A native of this county, he spent nearly all his life in the Mayfield community.

During the Civil War he served with the Bollinger County Militia, and most of his long life engaged in farming activities.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. C. Hale, and Rev. J. W. Ellis of Cape Girardeau, and burial took place in the Fulliam cemetery, near Mayfield.

Mr. Mayfield, a son of a pioneer from North Carolina, George Washington Mayfield, was born October 4, 1838. He was married in 1857 to Miss Sarah Williams of Bollinger County. Mrs. Mayfield survives, and is now 91 years old.

Surviving also are seven children, one brother, 25 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren.

The surviving children are: Dr. A. A. Mayfield of Sikeston, Dr. E. L. Mayfield of Manila, Ark.; M. H. Mayfield and A. Lee Mayfield of Mayfield, C. J. Mayfield of Morley, G. W. Mayfield of Scopus and Mrs. Adeline Masters of Hurricane. Two sons, Dr. L. M. Mayfield of Portageville and Dr. J. J. Mayfield of Jackson, preceded their father in death. The brother is Dr. E. B. Mayfield of St. Louis.

It's been only a few weeks since a carnival came to Shelby and failed to get the patronage it desired. One reason was because it did not offer anything different from what the people had spent their money on for untold years. Even the children did not get excited about it. We'll bet, however, that if instead of the merry-go-round and ferris wheel, there had been an ordinary elevator such as is found in every hotel in the city, such a ride would have collected all the nickels and dimes the kids could have begged from their parents. City folks will be amused at such a suggestion, but if they could see a child from the country take a ride on an elevator, they would probably be pointing up with a carnival and trying out such a proposition.—Shelby Democrat.

Over in Mississippi County there is much opposition to McDowell for State Senate for the reason that he bolted and fought Frank Ashby, the regular Democratic nominee for prosecuting attorney at the last election. These dissatisfied Democrats are for Judge T. A. Penman of New Madrid County for State Senate as his record and character cannot be assailed by the opposition party. When McDowell bolted the ticket, he was Democratic chairman of Mississippi County which makes the offense more marked in the eyes of regular Democrats.

Judge Charles A. Leedy, while in this section of the State, was doing as much missionary work as possible for Francis M. Wilson for Governor. We don't know what success he had, but we think it strange should Southeast Missouri not stand solid behind Dearmont for that office. We have nothing but praise for Wilson, but pride and home considerations make us feel more kindly toward our neighbor, Dearmont. However, if Wilson is the nominee, we'll be for him just as strong as we would have been for Dearmont.

Instead of bringing in the large tax expected, the law recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, we believe, will prove a disappointment. It is going to slow up business in many lines and cause people not to buy. Nearly everything handled in a drug store is eligible to a tax and while the tax is passed on to purchaser will hurt business. But we have to raise the money.

It is said the railroads will repay these loans. Perhaps so, perhaps not, with some probability on the not. The veterans would surely repay, for the money they ask for now is coming to them from the government as a bonus in a short time anyhow, and the government could not possibly lose its money. Between a man needing a few hundred dollars and a corporation needing many millions of dollars, the difference is great.—Arthur Brisbane.

Seneca—American Tripoli Co. moved its St. Louis office here.

Never before, politically speaking, has the Democratic party had as open a road to victory this fall as now. Imagine the plight of Republican leaders, Republican newspapers and "independent" newspapers with strong Republican tendencies. From the proud pinnacle of "Two cars in each garage, and a chicken in every pot," the Republican party has descended to the sorry plight of seeing both cars in the hands of the finance corporation, an added tax on gasoline to keep those in operation still running, and a tax on rubber which increases the difficulty of reshoehing the old family relic. The nine million unemployed in the cities and the howling mob of bonus seekers in Washington when confronted with "two chickens for the pot" find instead a tax on matches, no pot and no chicken. Consider also, the plight of the powder dry, religious-when-necessary editors.

They have seen their champion national dry, Herbert, lowered into the foam and spray of a wet Republican plank. They suffered the humiliation of the damned when Mable Walker Willebrandt, ex-assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition enforcement, sat on the front row at the Chicago convention, mute, stunned and disillusioned. Mable, you will remember, quit the forces and the payroll of the holier than thou dries to accept a juicer, and fatter plum from the California Grape industry makers of an intoxicating beverages by and with the moral and financial support of a Hoover Farm Board loan. Consider also the plight of our friends in this district who ripped shirts right and left for the Honorable Dewey Short, a dry as a Methodist preacher, four, three, two—even one year ago—and now, perish the thought, Dewey is wet.

Our Republican editor friends, and our "independent" newspaper heads with strong leanings toward the 12-year gravy train are in a heluva fix. They have lived to see the hen afloat, and the ducks stranded.

GOOD ADVICE FOR A SAFE FOURTH OF JULY

This year most of the nation will celebrate the Fourth of July with a three-day holiday. Such a long period for recreation is awaited eagerly by us all. Yet its unusual length doubles the hazards and danger to which we will be exposed.

Independence Day is known as the worst accident day of the year. This year may break the tragic record unless everyone guards himself closely and observes all safety rules. A list of "don'ts", all excellent advice, has been prepared by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters and follows:

If you drive your car—Drive Safely:
Don't drive recklessly—it's a long holiday and there's plenty of time.
Don't take out your car unless it is in first-class condition.

Don't drive on the wrong side of the road—keep to the right.
Don't drive too long without resting—mental lapses due to fatigue cause accidents.

Don't pass other cars unless you have a clear view ahead; don't cut in and out of traffic lines; don't pass or fail to slow down at intersections.

If you go swimming—Swim Safely:
Don't attempt marathon races by swimming too long or too far.
Don't venture out into too deep water if you're not a strong swimmer.

Don't swim away from the crowd—"In unity there is strength".

Don't indulge in ducking others or in frightening weak swimmers or children.

Don't lie too long in the sun—sun poisoning is injurious and can be fatal.

If you celebrate with fireworks—Celebrate Safely:
Don't hold lighted firecrackers in your hand or throw them close to others.

Don't explode firecrackers near combustible materials.

Don't celebrate with guns loaded with real cartridges or shot; firecrackers and toy cap pistols are dangerous enough.

Don't fail to treat injuries, even the most minor ones, immediately and intelligently. Tetanus poisoning works slowly but surely.

Don't get too close to a display of fireworks—premature explosions occur.

WHAT WOODROW WILSON THOUGHT OF PROHIBITION

In his statement last Friday declaring for a referendum on the prohibition question, William Gibbs McAdoo gave the views of Woodrow Wilson on prohibition. Wilson was McAdoo's father-in-law. McAdoo's statement referring to Wilson's view was as follows:

"In 1917, when the resolution for submission to the States of what is now the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution was on its passage through the Congress, I had an interesting conversation with President Wilson about the matter. While it is not incumbent upon the President to approve or disapprove such a resolution, he was deeply concerned about it.

"President Wilson thought it unwise to incorporate the prohibition in the amendment itself. He was convinced that it would be better to give Congress the power to regulate or to prohibit the traffic. He said:

"The amendment is an attempt by law to change long-established habits of a people. No one can tell, in advance, how it will work. I anticipate great difficulty in its enforcement unless public opinion strongly supports it. If this fails, it may become necessary to change law, but this will be impossible under an inflexible provision in the Constitution. If the power to deal with the subject is confined to the Congress, the law can be made responsive to public opinion—the ultimate authority in a democracy. I fear that the inflexible provision nay, in the end, defeat the whole prohibition movement."

"I was in full accord with President Wilson's views.

"President Wilson was a sincere advocate of temperance. In the early days he favored local option by communities. When this proved impracticable he favored State-wide option.

"After the eighteenth amendment was ratified he said that the whole power of the Government should be put behind its enforcement. It has been said that he vetoed the Volstead act because he was opposed to the eighteenth amendment. This is not true. In his veto of the Volstead act he said:

"I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to wartime prohibition. It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergencies of the war, and whose objects have been satisfied in the mobilization of the Army and Navy, and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of Congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation—arising out of war emergencies—have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity of repeal."

James Hamilton Lewis, United States Senator for Illinois, is the most polite man in the world, a gentleman of the old school, always and ever. Never does the Senator forget the amenities. A crowd of bonus seeking ex-soldiers gathered about him in Washington this week to demand that he vote for the bonus measure. One rowdy shouted, "We're from Illinois, and you know where you can go, don't you". Thereupon the immaculate Senator removed his hat, bowed low and said, "Gentlemen, you may go to hell, I am going to the Senate".

A $2 Dinner for 6

It's hard work to stretch budgets these days, and even the small housewife has to do some tall thinking sometimes to make hers cover the multiple needs of the modern household. But when a grown-up housewife can serve a family of six with an appetizing dinner for two dollars, she can stick at least one feather in her cap. This menu does it, with a penny to spare.

are your children drinking

Chemical Imitations?

Do their nickels buy fruit juice and vitamins or "pop" flavored with a synthetic concoction of chemicals?

You mothers have a right to know that many of the cheap "pops" sold as "fruit flavors" never saw fruit juice. You have a right to know what's really in the drinks your children's nickels buy.

What "imitation flavors" really are Millions of bottles of cheaply made "pops" are flavored only with mixtures of chemicals, synthetic concoctions made in imitation of fruit juices. They don't contain one drop of real fruit juice. Which do you want your children to drink? Which do you want to drink yourself?

It isn't necessary to take a chance on your drinks and the drinks your children buy. Through the genius of one of America's great food experts, the freshness and health value of fresh orange juice have been captured in a new delicious 5c drink—The New Orange-Crush!

Now—a new drink with fruit juice and vitamins instead of chemical imitations

Orange-Crush is the 5c fruit drink with fruit juice and vitamins that is rapidly supplanting chemical imitations. It's fresh—delicious—zestful as only sun-sweetened juice can be. Made right in the heart of the orange country by a new, exclusive process that retains all the health value of the fresh-picked fruit.

Once they taste the new Orange-Crush, children prefer it to any chemical imitation. It's so fragrant, pure and sparkling!

Of course doctors recommend the new Orange-Crush. Encourage your children to drink it often. Buy it by the case—keep it in the home. Every member of the family will enjoy it.

The NEW ORANGE-CRUSH is sold icy-cold at stores and stands everywhere. It contains luscious orange juice—the tang of peel—the zest of lemon juice acid—pure U. S. certified food color—pure cane sugar—and clear, sparkling water.

HISTORY OF ROAD BUILDING IN MISSOURI

Floyd C. Shoemaker

One hundred and twenty-four years ago this week, there was enacted by the legislature of the Territory of Louisiana, sitting in session at St. Louis, the first legal provision designating a road in what is now Missouri. Two years before, in 1806, a general road law had been passed, but it authorized no specific road.

Thousands of miles of roads have been built in Missouri following enactment of that first law in 1806, and even by 1911, well over 100 millions of dollars had been invested. Yet it was not until 1917 that a so-called modern road law was enacted in Missouri. Even then it remained for the Centennial Road Law of 1921 to be passed before Missouri had legal provision, funds and a centralized directing force for its great State highway system of the present.

On June 20, 1808, a date which recurs this week, the first law concerning a definite road in what is now Missouri, and probably the first west of the Mississippi river, was enacted. The law of 1808 provided for the surveying of a "wagon" road from St. Louis to Ste. Genevieve, thence to Cape and on to New Madrid. The act was signed by Meriwether Lewis, a leader of the famous Lewis and Clark Expedition and at that time governor of the Territory of Louisiana, and John B. C. Lucas and Otho Shrader, territorial judges. These men, together with John C. W. Johnson, the other judge, whose name does not appear on the act, constituted the territorial legislature.

Three commissioners were appointed to lay out the road and by March of 1809 a map had been made showing the route. Over a hundred years later this same road was still being used.

Increasing population in Missouri necessitated more roads in the years following 1808. One of the most famous of these was the Boone's Lick Trail. This road was surveyed in 1815 by Nathan Boone, son of Daniel Boone, and led from St. Charles through Cottleville, Pittman, Naylor's Store, Pontfort, Pauldingville, Hickory Grove, Warrenton, Camp Branch, Jones, Danville, Williamsburg, north of Fulton and Columbia thru Thrall's Prairie to Franklin and Boone's Lick. Later when Fulton and Columbia became prominent, the road led from Williamsburg thru Fulton, Millersburg, Columbia, and Rochester to Franklin. Before 1822 the Boone's Lick Trail was the main traveled route to Western Missouri.

Congress established a system of post roads in Missouri in 1821 and in 1829 the Missouri General Assembly created a "road and canal" fund to be equally distributed among the counties. From then, until comparatively recent times, Missouri road building was marked by excessive special legislation, local interference, and bad roads.

The old plan of road maintenance offered some amusing comparisons with the efficient system now in force. Citizens worked the roads and in early days they could use this method of paying their poll taxes. Old laws provided that all road work should be done by August. Often all the men in a district would hold a "road bee" once a year to repair roads. A "bee" was generally a festive occasion of gossip, story telling, political discussion, and perhaps some work on the road. Rarely was the work under skilled direction as it is today. Unless some unusual occurrence made it necessary to repair the road again, no work was done on the road from one year to the next.

Beginning about 1848 and lasting until about 1856, Missouri was hit by the plank road craze. Thousands of dollars were invested by private companies in roads that soon warped and became useless. One of the most famous of these roads was the forty-two mile plank road from Ste. Genevieve to Iron Mountain, costing $200,000. Later the toll or turnpike system grew up and many of these roads lasted until the modern era of road building. State-wide road construction was hampered, however, by local interest and lack of coordination.

Interest in roads lagged with the coming of the railroad to Missouri in the 1850's and was not revived effectively until the generation that saw the coming of the automobile. The early part of the 20th century was marked by an attempt to life Missouri "out of the mud". In 1913 a State Highway Commissioner was provided for and in 1917 the Hawes act was passed, accepting federal aid, creating a State Highway board and providing for an engineering force. This act was enlarged by law in 1921 the famous Centennial Road Law was passed. Missouri had thus achieved a centralized highway system to replace the haphazard system of county or local control.

Cost Her $4.25 To Reduce 65 Pounds

"Worth It", Miss Bates Says.

If you're young and fat read what Miss Bates of Beech, Iowa, has to say about Kruschen Salts—if you are middle age or old Kruschen shows you the way to lose fat the SAFE way.

"I took one bottle of Kruschen Salts a month for five months. It amounted to $4.25 and I reduced 65 lbs. but it was worth it. Imagine just 22 years old and weighing what I did. I could not enjoy myself as other girls did. I could not get the clothes I wanted. I think it is wonderful the results Kruschen Salts give."

To lose fat the safe, sane way—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—eat less fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar that costs but a small sum lasts 4 weeks. Get it at White's Drug Store or any drug-store in the world—but be sure for your health's sake to ask for and get Kruschen Salts. It's the little daily dose that does it. -6

Charleston, June 20.—The Cape Girardeau Capahas defeated the Charleston Cardinals in a long drawn out game played at Fairground Park, Capt Girardeau, yesterday afternoon, 12-11. The game lasted 3 hours. Although out-hit, 11 to 15, the Capahas were able to bunch their hits so as to produce more runs.

The Capahas drew first blood, scoring 5 runs on 4 hits, a walk and a fielder's choice, in the last half of the first. The Cardinals scored 4 runs in the first half of the third on a walk and 5 hits. The Capahas scored 3 runs in their half of the third on a walk, two singles, and a triple. Cape scored 1 more run in the last of the fifth. Charleston failed to score again until the seventh, when they got 1 run. In the first half of the eighth, Charleston tied the score with 6 runs, made on 5 hits, an error, and a walk. The last hit was a triple with 3 men on base. This rally was started after two men were down. Nichols was knocked from the box, and Bergman finished the game. The winning run was scored by Cape in the eighth, on two singles. The leading hitter for the day was Hequembourg, Charleston section baseman, who had a single, double and triple and on through a fielder's choice out of five times. Brown of Charleston also had 3 hits, a double and two singles. Myers also of Charleston got three safe blows, all singles.

THINKS "WORKING WAY" IN UNIVERSITY TO BE SLOW

Columbia, June 21.—The ambitious student who seeks to work his way through the University of Missouri should have a larger cash reserve when he comes to Columbia next fall, Earl Gordon, employment secretary for university men, said yesterday.

Gordon said he did not believe, however, that there will be a great decrease in the number of positions open to needy men next fall.

"There probably will be a larger number of applicants for the places, however," he said, "and it is only to be expected that, with conditions as they are, there will be some decrease in jobs."

"I believe every student who expects to work should come here with at least sufficient funds for his expenses for the first semester."

THE RED & WHITE STORES

SAVE MONEY

By Reading and Heeding the Advertisements of Red & White Stores in Newspapers and Handbills

Why, in spite of Red & White high standards of quality, are prices lower at Red & White Stores . . . not just a few leaders, but on the general average of all items? Here's where the Red & White Plan comes in. Each Red & White Store is individually owned and operated by a local merchant. Each of the thousands of Red & White store owners is a member of the Red & White cooperative buying organization. Their combined buying power enables them to get the lowest quantity prices.

Furthermore, Red & White Products are shipped direct from the factories to local warehouses from which they are distributed to Red & White Stores. This means another big saving in handling and shipping costs. These savings, together with those resulting from more efficient store management, enable your local Red & White Stores to offer you greater values.

Hoover proposes a world armament cut, the headlines read Wednesday evening. That will be approved by every sensible, peace-loving taxpayer in the world, but that proposal is loaded with dynamite. We make this prophecy: That foreign countries if they agree to an armament reduction will make that reduction contingent upon reducing or cancelling altogether the War Debt contracted with the United States during the late World conflict. In the meantime we have difficulty in lemonade and sandwiches were supplied.

Besides Mr. Dearthmont, who talked on taxation, State government and bossism, other speakers were Everett Reeves of Caruthersville and Bennett Clark. Senator Dearthmont, Sheriff Scott said, has gotten to be an orator in recent weeks. He holds a crowd wonderfully, now, he said, and demonstrates that he is getting into the midst of the campaign. Senator Dearthmont has made 28 addresses in the last two weeks.

A supply of buttons nearly four inches in diameter bearing a clear picture of Senator Dearthmont has been brought to Cape Girardeau from St. Louis and a Broadway drug store is distributing them. It is said many of them are being bought and worn in St. Louis.

According to information to Julien N. Friant in Cape Girardeau, Senator Dearthmont was at Sedalia today and a banquet is scheduled there for tonight, with Gov. Woodring of Kansas to speak as well as Mr. Dearthmont. Wednesday he is to be in Boone County, visiting at Rocheport and other places, possibly including Columbia. Thursday will likely also be spent in that county. He is tentatively scheduled to speak in Jefferson City Friday and Saturday and will be in Callaway County, speaking at Fulton at night. The following week Senator Dearthmont is to campaign in Lincoln, Ralls, Pike and Audrain Counties.—Cape Missourian.

ed their dupes to do their worship to idols. It was through the wisdom of some Hebrew statesmen that spiritual worship of an unseen being was substituted. That reform was later so abused by the Jewish sanhedrin that it was denounced by Jesus Christ, himself a Jew, but a lover of justice and humanity.

The persecuted disciples of Christ succeeded in establishing a new religion, which has become a part of our modern civilization, but like all other religions, it has degenerated into an adjunct of the state, and instead of being the herald of peace, as its founder proclaimed, it has become the ally of all governments in war. Without the church, no nation could safely engage in war. Nor could the church exist without the protection of the State. Even here in America, where church and state have been divorced by law, they are partners and co-conspirators in war.

In peace times the church is for peace, but in war times it is for war. While some might ascribe this difference to patriotism, it is purely a matter of business. Without the sanction of the churches, President Wilson would not have been able to plunge America into the World War which cost thousands of lives of our best manhood and billions in treasure; nor would there have been given exemptions to all ministers and theological students had the government not feared the power of the churches. Remember that all churches, regardless of denomination or creed, enjoyed this exemption as a part of their reward for balancing the budget because someone must pay those war debts. If Europe is excused, Mr. and Mrs. American Taxpayer can look forward to two generations of paying the bill.

The following paragraph is copied verbatim from the report of one of our correspondents of a recent wedding. If it gives you a pain in the same place it does us, buffet suppers will be stylish at both homes. Here is the paragraph: "The graceful skirt closely draped the slender bride, flared into fullness at the bottom ending in a long fish tail train. The gown elegantly simple, depended for embellishment upon the richness of the fabric and its exquisite lines." We are unable to state whether it was the gown or the bride that flared into fullness at the bottom, but we do wish the couple happiness and good luck nevertheless.

IN THE POLITICAL REALM

Southeast Missourians who attended a Deamont meeting in St. Louis Saturday night were dumbfounded when they saw on what scale the demonstration was carried out, according to Sheriff Tom Scott of Benton, who was here late Monday. There were 6000 persons at the meeting, he said, which was a great surprise to Sheriff Scott, Ray B. Lucas and John Dernberger and nearly a dozen others from Scott County and Julien N. Friant of Cape Girardeau. St. Louis is getting aroused, Sheriff Scott said, and it all seems to be in favor of Senator Dearthmont.

Mike Whalen and aids put on the meeting, in the 22nd Ward, at St. Louis and Euclid avenues, it being an outdoor affair. Over 2500 were seated, and the others stood. When Senator Dearthmont came before the crowd, Mr. Scott said, the people gave him an ovation seldom equalled in political meetings. As he talked, and especially when he "came out of his coat," it was said, the crowd was wild in its cheering.

With a Dearthmont organization in each ward in St. Louis, Sheriff Scott said, the city folks are causing even Southeast Missourians to sit up and take notice in regard to real work for the candidate from Cape Girardeau seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

The St. Louis organization has little money with which to work, but judging from this rally it needs little. In spite of this there were large Dearthmont banners and

MEDICINE MEN

When Cristoforo Colombo landed on these shores in 1492, he discovered a people of primitive laws, customs and religion. The Indians were untutored, their ruler was the "Chief," and their spiritual guide and adviser was the "Medicine Man," who, through fear and cunning, kept the tribe in subjugation to the "Chief."

The "Chief" and "Medicine Man" were honored and feasted, and, in comparison with the tribe, lived lives of ease and luxury. Aside from the "Chief" and "Medicine Man," there were no distinctions in the tribe, except for cases of valor. Each tribe was a commune, and all were served alike when there was anything to serve after the rulers had theirs. The biological instinct of hate made every tribe the enemy of every other tribe.

Sociologists are scanning the pages of history to determine, if possible, the earliest forms of government, and archaeologists are excavating, for the same purpose, where tradition locates the cities of ancient civilization. These scientific researches not only prove that the tribal form of government which Columbus found existing here was the earliest form of government, but also that the American Indian migrated during that early period and retained the ancient customs. The racial ambition, pride and hatreds of the Old World led to state governments and kings, which supplanted the tribal forms.

In the new form of government the chief became king, and the medicine men became priests; whose offices were lucrative. It mattered not what the religion, whether sun worship, sex worship or the worship of some sacred animal, the priest was the oracle who filled the ignorant with superstition and made them obedient, if not willing, slaves of the king. In the evolution of religion there have been many changes, but there always was a bond between Church and State, and that bond made the priest the willing tool of the monarch and the recognized authority on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the souls of mankind.

In all countries, in all times, the cunning clergy have chloroformed the intellect of the people, and through their ignorance and superstitions the people were made the patriotic slave of the king. The most debasing period of priestcraft was during the time when the priests of Baal compelled recognizing the righteousness of slaughter.

So great is the need, by the state, of the power of the church, to keep the masses chloroformed, that no President is ever nominated who does not publicly proclaim his belief in God. As some of our ablest President, inwardly, did not believe in the Christian God, this subservience to the church not only belittled them in their own estimation for their deception, but it gave endorsement to that hypocrisy which is the fruit of a false religion. That turmoil in the world today is the fruit of the compromise between Church and State, when both were striving for the mastery.

All priests and ministers of religion, except those of Islam, are traditionally opposed to war. But in war time these modern medicine men like their prototypes, use their influence over the masses to justify the iniquity of war. Religions have changed. Forms of government have changed. But the relation of Priest and Ruler are the same today as in the earliest form of government, even such as Columbus found. Modern democracy has robbed kingly tyrants of their power, but it has not yet destroyed the debasing influence of the medicine men, now known as the clergy.

The world's problems are human problems. Governmental progress has greatly added to the welfare of the human race. But the human race will never fully come into its own until a fictitious throne, as have the czars, kings and kaisers. The clergy, successors of the office of medicine man, are the stumbling block in the road of human progress.—San Diego Herald.

PERFECT SPADE HAND HELD BY PLAYER HERE

Mrs. Dolly Kirby last Sunday afternoon held a perfect hand of 13 spades, bid six, doubled and redoubled, and lived to carry out the contract and make a score of 616 on the hand without fainting.

Mrs. Kirby's party, Mrs. Freda Limbaugh, and their opponents, Mrs. Dessie Lumsden and daughter, Miss Hazel Lumsden, agree that the thirteen-card suit actually "happened." On the next hand, Mrs. Kirby held eight spades, eighty honors, and made a little slam.

Mrs. H. M. Rice and children of Crutcheff, Ky., came Monday for a visit with her father, H. A. Walton, and other relatives.

A Change In Schedule Sunday — Arcadia Open Tourney—Sikeston Lineup—Individual Semo Standing and a Pro.

WHERE THEY PLAY SUNDAY

Standings in the Southeast Missouri Round Robin Tournament are not expected to change materially following next Sunday's match play tourneys. Poplar Bluff leads the lists with a percentage standing of 1000. Sikeston trails with 750 points, and Cape and Dexter are tied for third place.

The schedule has been shifted slightly to avoid playing the Bluff-Dexter match on the Kennett links. This course is new, and some trouble has been encountered with the fairways.

Here's the official dope regarding the three final sessions next Sunday in Southeast Missouri play: Poplar Bluff vs. Dexter at Charleston. Sikeston vs. Charleston at Cape Girardeau. Cape Girardeau vs. Kennett at Dexter.

SIKESTON LINEUP

At least eighteen Sikestonians are expected to participate in the Charleston tournament next Sunday on the Girardeau Country Club links. A few changes have been made in the following lineup to accommodate those who have been left out in previous matches. An effort is being made to divide honors, so that each man qualified to participate in regular tournaments will have this last opportunity to play.

The lineup:
Bowman, L. R.
Phillips, M.
Scott, C. C.
Alexander, H.
Galloway, Paul
Stallcup, L. M.
Malone, C. L.
Fisher, D. L.
Matthews, C. D., III
Trowbridge, H. A.
Miles, Jesse M.
Conran, J. V.
Matthews, Jos. L.
Bowman, Lee
McClure, Dr. T. C.
Medley, Pete
Bradley, R. E.
Wilson, R. H.
Brown, J. L.
Harty, H. L.
Rost, V.
Robbins, F. M.
Mann, Wm.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS
Honors in Southeast Missouri Club competition are pretty well divided. Cape Girardeau won the first two championships, Sikeston headed the list last year, and from all indications Poplar Bluff cannot be rooted out of first place this year.

The results at the end of round four:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Poplar Bluff	4	0	1000
Sikeston	3	1	750
Cape Girardeau	2	2	500
Dexter	2	2	500
Charleston	1	3	250
Kennett	0	4	000

THE HIGHCOCKOLORUMS

A tournament within a tournament is proving to be one of the most interesting points of competition this year. Individual shooters are at it brassie and putter for individual honors with the result that eleven Southeast Missourians are shooting under eighty as an average for four tourneys.

At the present time the individuals rate as follows for the 72 holes:

F. Borth, Poplar Bluff, 304 strokes
L. R. Bowman, Sikeston—305
George W. Kirk, Charleston—306

Ted Borth, Bluff—309
C. Schwab, Cape Girardeau—309
C. C. Scott, Sikeston—310
E. Graham, Bluff—312
Sikeston's representative, Bowman slipped a notch and sent Borth of Poplar Bluff into first place in a list of 15 ranking players. John Phillips and Renfro Gibbs have disappeared from the list, but a new face, Charles Stivers of Cape Girardeau, who lucked in a brilliant 69 last Sunday bringing his average to 81 1/4. Scott of Sikeston is back for honors, after a bad early season start, while Kirk of Charleston and Graham of Poplar Bluff bettered their positions. E. McClintock of Cape Girardeau with a score of 75 last Sunday earned a position at the end of the bench.

A PRO ARRIVES

John Willbrand, young, attractive, sunburned, St. Charles product, is with the Sikeston Club this week, and will remain a few days next week. John, we mentioned that "attractive" business in the first line to assist you in luring girl golfers into the fold.

Should anyone be laboring under the delusion that Willbrand doesn't know his stuff, listen to this: A 33 and 32 on a par 37 course at Acadia Valley last week, and a flock of 32, 33, 35 scores on the local course this week. And, can he drive?

Willbrand uses a No. 4 iron for No. 1 hole on the local course, and has overdriven No. 9 twice this week in the presence of the hottest hot shots in the club, including Stallcup, Scott and Malone. His main object here during his ten-day, or longer, stay is to sandpaper rough spots from the form of our local shooters who desire that service.

ARCADIA VALLEY INDIVIDUAL PLAY TO BE HELD JULY 3-4

Plans are being made for the annual Southeast Missouri individual invitation tournament for amateurs to be played at the Arcadia Valley course near Ironton on July 3 and 4.

There will be either 27 or 36 holes of qualifying play to be run off between Saturday noon, July 2 and Sunday night, July 3. The actual number of holes for qualifying play will be announced later by the secretary.

There will be at least four classes, championship, class A, class B and Class C. The first 16 low shooters in the qualifying rounds will go into the championship bracket, and succeeding groups of 16 will make up the other classes. All who do not qualify for first, second or third classes will be placed in the fourth classification.

GIRL SCOUTS DECIDE TO GO CAMPING—LATER

Fifteen members of the local Girl Scout troop held their regular weekly meeting Thursday afternoon at the grade school building, under the leadership of Captain Nell Yanwon.

Among other things the Scouts decided to go swimming later that afternoon, and reached the decision to go camping near Fredericktown. A date is to be selected later.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL NEWS

Miss Ann Klinge, who underwent an operation two weeks ago, returned yesterday to her home near Morehouse.

Mrs. Martha Crenshaw of Bertrand is still doing fine and will be released from the hospital in a few days.

Ernest Cannon of near Matthews is now able to sit up and is expected to be released this Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Payne is reported to be doing fine.

Mrs. Ben Terrell and daughter of Dexter are doing nicely. Mary Jane arrived at the hospital last Saturday. Mrs. Terrell before her marriage was Miss Lucille Baker of this city.

Bill Hughes is reported to be about the same. Sherman Grant, an appendicitis patient, is doing fine.

WOOLWORTH STORE TO BE COMPLETED ON TIME

According to contractors in charge of remodeling the Kready buildings on Front Street, the future home of F. W. Woolworth & Company, in Sikeston, will be completed on contract time, July 15.

At present plasterers have finished their work on the lower floor, marble men have set front window stones. Plans call for placing a pine floor over the concrete and tile floor in the old buildings.

A shipment of milled wood-work, doors, partitions, etc., arrived this week ready to be stained.

At present most of the work is being concentrated on the second floor, where partitions are being placed for storage rooms.

New Madrid Bridge Party Held

Mrs. Irene Kerr and daughter, Miss Mildred Kerr, entertained at bridge at the home of Mrs. Celia Kerr, New Madrid, Wednesday evening this week. The following guests attended: Miss Katherine Stewart of Louisiana, Miss Eloise Mathewson, C. C. Wainwright and E. W. Martin of Arkansas, Earl Ward of Sikeston and O. H. Gehrig. Mr. Wainwright was awarded high score honors.

Festus—Improvements being made in Kay's Department Store. Work started on farm-to-market road between Ethel and New Cambria.

Butler—Carroll Grocery on east side of the square being remodelled.

For The Summer Menu

THREE FRUIT CRYSTALS

Dissolve sugar in the boiling water, and cool. Combine with remaining ingredients; transfer to the freezing tray of refrigerator, and freeze for about one hour, or until the mixture is transformed into fine crystals. Serve in chilled sherbert glasses and garnish with sugared grated orange rind.

JELLIED TONGUE LOAF

Boil tongue with seasoning, 4 to 5 hours. Cool slightly and skin tongue; chop fine. Chill broth in refrigerator; remove fat. Heat 1 1/2 pints broth, dissolve gelatine and add soup. Chill in refrigerator. When just ready to congeal, add chopped meat and put in bread pan lined with wax paper. Chill in refrigerator and cut in slices for cold meat.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

Cut all fruit into small pieces, add nuts (broken up), and mayonnaise. Whip cream and fold into mixture. Put in tray and leave for two or three hours. If left too long the fruit becomes icy. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce leaves. Serves six or seven.

STUFFED PIMIENTO SALAD

Soften cream cheese with the cream. Carefully fill pimientos. When filled, remove a little cheese from center, mix with chopped pickles and olives. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Cut in two, crosswise, and place on bed of lettuce. Garnish with watercress and serve with French dressing.

MAPLE MOUSSE DESSERT

Heat 1 cup maple syrup. Pour it into the beaten yolks of 4 eggs, return to stove and cook until quite thick. Fold in beaten egg whites and cool. Fold in 1 pint of cream, whipped. Put in refrigerator tray and freeze. Does not need stirring. Serves about 12 portions.

QUICK PEPPERMINT WAFERS

Beat egg white until stiff, add salt and peppermint oil, and gradually work in enough sugar to make a firm paste. Knead on a platter until smooth, and roll very thin. Shape with a small round cutter. Dip in granulated sugar, and transfer to a shallow pan lined with wax paper. Place on upper shelf of refrigerator until firm.

AMERICA WON'T CANCEL DEBT

Geneva, June 21.—Hugh S. Gibson, America's representative at the disarmament conference, told Premier Herriot of France last night that the United States will not listen to any appeal for cancellation of debts so long as Europe continues to spend vast sums for arms.

They met at Morges, a little town half way between here and Lausanne, and talked until past midnight. It was said that Mr. Gibson had asked the premier to come down from Lausanne after he had talked over the telephone with President Hoover. The impression prevailed that the meeting was initiated by Washington. Mr. Gibson tried to get M. Herriot and Joseph Paul Boncour to accept the American disarmament plan for limiting effective arms, in addition to accepting some method of qualitative disarmament. He failed to get a favorable response.

Then he called their attention to the meeting at Lausanne where the European delegates are trying to find their own answer to the debts and reparations puzzle before approaching the United States with an appeal for cancellation.

He made it clear that the American government cannot listen to any such appeal while Europe is spending enough money every year on armaments to meet the service on the debts due the United States.

Seventy per cent of 497 prisoners interviewed at San Quentin prison in California said they had not been in a church for five years preceding their arrest, 33 had never attended a Sunday school, 60 had had no schooling beyond the lower grades. The figures seem to prove what we know, that criminals come from the ranks of neglected humanity.

WASTE OF WATER CAUSES FLOODS SCIENTISTS SAY

Washington.—"Water, water everywhere—"

But water is still a mystery to most people, according to speakers at the first all-water convention of the American Forestry Association in Baltimore May 26-27.

The national forestry group devoted its 57th annual meeting entirely to the subject of water "to bring forcibly to the attention of the American people the dire need for a more intelligent use and understanding of water, and the vital part which forests play in maintaining and regulating this most indispensable yet worst abused natural resource," says a bulletin of the American Game Association.

Recurring droughts, floods, the loss of millions of acres of good agricultural and through erosion, the filling of navigable streams and costly reservoirs with silt, the pollution of rivers, and the terrible, far-reaching losses and untold suffering are mainly due to mismanagement of water and are largely preventable, government officials, scientists and other investigators pointed out.

Clean farming, forest fires, over grazing, destruction of woods and other protective vegetation on the watersheds, and the drainage of lowlands which form natural storage places for water, were given as some of the chief causes of a devastating waste of the nation's water supply every year. It was shown that water is being made to run too rapidly off the land, so that it carries the topsoil with it, causes floods and leaves the country open to droughts. Forest soil was pictured as the best "sponge" for absorbing the water and releasing it gradually into streams, thus assuring a regular flow of water the year round.

Henry O'Malley, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, said that since fishes depend on a regular water supply, the future of fishing is at the mercy of watershed management. Paul G. Redington, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, declared the decline in the wild duck supply is largely due to drainage of natural reservoirs.

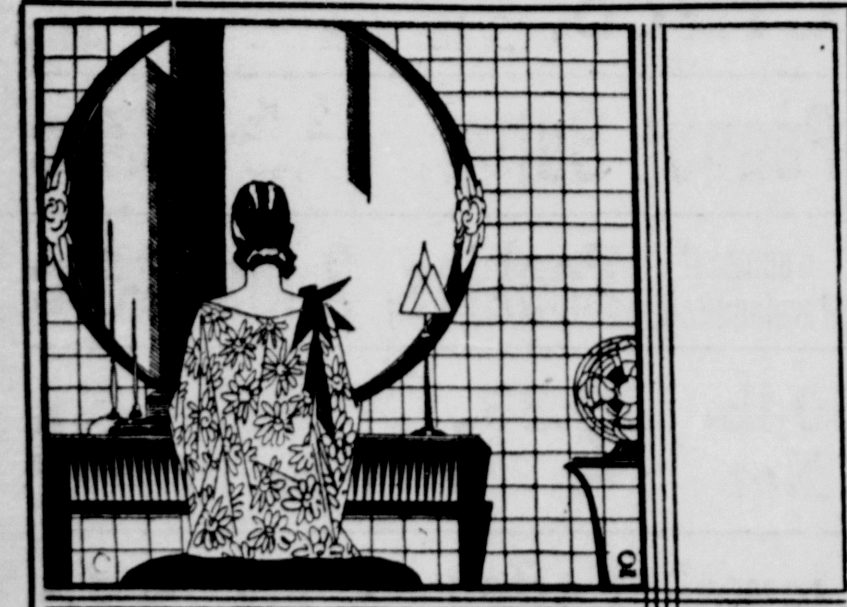

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely wish to thank our many friends for their kindness shown us at the death of our beloved husband, father, and grandfather, J. H. Chambliss, also the beautiful sermon by Rev. Leslie Garrison and songs by the choir of the First Baptist church. Also we wish to thank the pallbearers, Mr. Albritton and those who sent flowers.

CLAIMS "BOLTS FROM THE BLUE" LOOSEN TEETH OF FARM ANIMALS

J. W. Lewellen, who has probably inspected more livestock that has been killed by lightning than any other man in the county, says that in the case of many farm animals, the teeth are loosened by the stroke. This is particularly true, he says, when the lightning has struck somewhere in the forepart of the animal's body. Skinning is the most practical way of determining whether or not an animal has been killed by lightning, Lewellen says, as the stroke causes blood clots under the skin and these may be plainly seen after the skin is removed.—Paris Appeal.

EARLY PLOWING INCREASES WHEAT YIELD IN TEST

Four and one-half bushels more wheat per acre have been grown at the Missouri Experiment Station by plowing the ground in July instead of waiting until about the middle of September. Other experiment stations have found the advantage of early plowing to be as much as 6 bushels an acre. This means that for every week's delay in plowing the ground for wheat there will be a reduction of one-half to one bushel per acre in yield. Even with grain prices as low as they are this difference should easily pay for the earlier attention to the seedbed preparation, says O. T. Coleman, soils extension specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

With the earlier plowing, the rains which usually occur between this date and seeding time will automatically pack down the soil, greatly reducing the amount of work necessary to form the seedbed before the wheat is drilled. Usually double disking and harrowing will be all that is necessary to prepare a good seedbed where plowing has been done in July.

Not only will the July plowing make a firmer seedbed but it will allow more plant food and moisture to be available for the wheat crop. The weeds which otherwise would grow and use up water and plant nutrients are killed by the early plowing while nitrogen in soluble form is allowed to accumulate.

Furthermore, land plowed five or six inches deep in July will also serve to cover and destroy the Hessian fly when it is in the resting stage, while plowing late in the season will allow this insect to lay its eggs and spread infestation further. Where land cannot be plowed in July, it should at least be disked thoroughly so as to help control weeds and conserve moisture.

Early plowing is an important point for the wheat grower to consider in the preparation for a good seedbed with the least trouble and the biggest return. Since rainfall has been plentiful in most parts of the State so far this season early plowing should not work a hardship on those intending to put in wheat this fall. Because of this, and since one can normally expect several bushels increase per acre in the crop there seems no just reason why one should delay his plowing.

SAYS DRY ISSUE HAS PUT CHURCH IN FALSE LIGHT

Milwaukee, June 20.—Ministers who aid federal agents in prohibition raids fall short of the calling of their profession, in the opinion of the Rev. Theodore Graebner, professor of theology at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis.

"Curbing crime is a civil matter and the salvation of the human soul through the Gospel is the labor of the church," said the Rev. Graebner, who is here for the triennial synodical Lutheran convention.

"While we demand that our members obey the law, we do not believe the church should be active in the promotion of any legislation. Seven arch fiends, meeting in conclave, could not have devised a more perfect means of breaking down the influence of the church than by foisting the prohibition issue upon certain denominations.

"Through the prohibition movement the unchurched masses have been given an entirely false idea of the duties of the church."

CHAPTER X

"Mike passed the lantern in the second floor hallway with a mere nod. Herman turned to stare after him and then quietly followed him into the apartment. Into the bedroom where Mike tossed his hat upon the bed.

"What happened?" asked Herman, standing in the bedroom doorway.

"They sent her up for six months," replied Mike, dully. "Got anything to drink?"

"I thought maybe you'd be needing it," said Herman, reaching into his pocket and bringing out a flask. "Wait till I get a glass."

"What for?" Mike took the flask from Herman's hands, unscrewed the top, took several big gulps of the liquor, wiped off the mouthpiece of the flask and handed it back to Herman.

"They took the kid, too," he continued after a time, his eyes dull and downcast. "Said I wouldn't be able to take care of him."

"Well, how could you, working all night and sleeping in the days?"

"Well, maybe I couldn't."

"It don't matter," he looked at the floor for a long time while Herman watched him in silence. "I can't

He hauled off suddenly and hit the man a terrific blow on the chin, knocking him unconscious on the hallway floor.

understand it," continued Mike after a time, without raising his eyes. "I just don't get it."

The janitor made as if to speak, thought better of it, but at length, perhaps through pity of the forlorn man staring dully at the floor, burst out:

"Mike, what's the good of being a sucker all your life? I'd rather take a punch on the nose than tell you this. I came into this room ahead of the cop. She didn't have nothing on her hardly, just her pants and stockings and some sort of a shirt, or something, I don't know."

"Who? Mary?"

"Sure. That's who I'm talking about. And the fella was only half dressed."

Mike looked up with a flash of sudden interest. "What did he look like? What kind of a guy was he?"

"Oh, I don't know. He was a gentleman. He wore them patent leather shoes and everything. Smoked big cigars. See, there's the butt of one of 'em." He pointed to a half-smoked cigar on the bureau.

Mike followed with his eyes, the pointing finger, got up, went to the bureau and stared down at the cigar as though it were a poisonous thing. He gave a sudden choked, inarticulate cry of rage.

"If I could just get my hands on him!"

He walked to the window with drooping shoulders. After a time he turned to the janitor, almost pitifully, seeking enlightenment.

"I gave her a good home. I was goofy over her. What made her do it?"

"Mike, nobody knows what makes 'em do it. I've had three wives—and there wasn't one of 'em worth a hoot."

"But with a baby and a swell home and everything? Acting like a dirty—"

"He sank down on the edge of the bed in utter despair, leaning his head in his hands.

"Ah, Mike, take another drink," said the sympathetic janitor, handing him the flask. Mike emptied it. "It ain't got any bite to it. I don't feel it."

Herman patted Mike on the shoulder. "He took the easy flask, and take a good sleep?"

"Yeah, I guess I will. I guess maybe that's what I need." Mike stood up and began to take off his coat.

"So long, Mike," said the janitor, looking back from the bedroom doorway.

"So long, Herman."

Left alone, Mike looked down at the bed where Mary's nightdress lay, as though she had put it out ready to slip on. He suddenly reached out for it with an inarticulate sort of a cry and crushed it between his hands. He slumped down on the bed with a hoarse sigh, almost a sob, while his fingers twisted nervously at the film nightgown.

He was on the verge of breaking up completely when there came a cautious knock at the outer door. The thought suddenly flashed through his mind that perhaps Mary had somehow got away and had come home. He went quickly to open the door. Instead of Mary, there stood a thick-set burly man with a brown mustache. At the confused smile that came over the man's face Mike was convinced that he had expected Mary to open the door, and he began to boil within.

He heard the door of the apartment next to his open and then sharply shut, but he did not care who might have gotten into a lot of trouble up the house with that thick-set man. He called it square. He placed the bags where she had indicated and turned to leave, but Lil stopped him.

"Oh, wait a minute. You better not go back up there yet. Madigan may be hanging around."

"Yeah, I guess maybe you've right."

"Come on, sit down. You look like you're all in. Take a drink now and then?"

"No, I—I never have much," said Mike, sitting down on the davenport. "Guess there's no reason why I shouldn't—now."

"Wait a minute." She took a bottle of liquor out of her suitcase, brought in some glasses from the kitchen and placed them on the table with the whiskey. Then she went back to the kitchen for a bowl and turned on the sink. She poured him a drink.

"There we are. Oh, I forgot the ginger ale!"

"That's all right. I can take it straight."

"Not me. I like ginger ale to mine. Well, say—you better take a stiff one. You look like you need it. I'm awfully sorry about what happened—about your wife getting—"

"That's all right," said Mike, looking at the floor.

"I think it's a little shame," continued Lil, a girl that had everything to her.

"Yeah, yeah—well, forget it! I have. What do I care?"

"Well, at that, there's her side of it, you know; she's young and you're out working late at night—"

"Yeah, and for what? To keep her in a swell flat, and she goes and turns it into a—"

"Oh, I forgot. I have to use the phone. Help yourself, and you might fix me a weak one."

While Mike helped himself to a drink or two and mixed one for her, Lil called Grogan from her bedroom and told him of Mike's knocking Mary out and how she had rushed him away before the detective recovered consciousness. "I've got him here drowning his sorrows in some of the bad liquor you sent me."

"Okay. I'll tell the Judge just as soon as he gets home from court. But you keep the kid there until you hear from me."

She returned to Mike and gave a startled glance at the bottle of liquor. "I hope you didn't put all of that in my glass, starting at the statue of a nude girl on the table."

"I had some straight."

"What are you doing with that statue?" she asked as she saw him placing his hand on its head.

"I'll bet she's a bad one inside, all right."

"But Mike was speaking to the statue. 'Butter wouldn't melt in your mouth, you're so innocent. huh? Your name ain't Mary by any chance, is it? Bet it is! It always is with you innocent lookin' dames.'"

"That's—that's more like it—"

"There's only a statue—she's not alive," said Lil, and sat down on the davenport beside Mike.

"Aw, that's so a people'll know my wife for what she really is after this."

"She certainly played you a dirty trick, all right."

"Shut up! I'll do all the talkin' about her. And there ain't goin' to be any more of her. What do you say, little tramp?"

He knocked the statue off the table with a wide and uncertain gesture.

"Oh, don't get tight," said Lil. "I'm goin' to get so tight that—"

"Oh, no, you're not! You're going to stay sober—so you and I can have a lot of fun. What do you say, shall we?" She smiled into his eyes, leaning so close that their shoulders touched.

"Sure. Let's have some fun! Sh—"

"I guess I can, too. How about it? Watch this, Mrs. Thomas."

He took Lil in his arms and kissed her lips.

"What do you keep thinking about her for?" smiled Lil.

"I'm not. I—I'll show her. I'll show you, I mean." He picked her up and sat her on his lap, kissing her violently.

"Oh, but you're strong!" said Lil. "Wait a minute, darling, while I get and put on something more comfortable."

"Yeah, sure, put on something more—comfortable."

His hands slid down her sides over her hips, down her thighs as she arose. She leaned down, kissed him, laughed softly, picked up her suitcase and fled into the bedroom.

Mike got up from the davenport, took a step after her, and sat down again with a grunt, uncertain of his legs.

Lil took a dressing gown out of her suitcase, slipped off her dress and was adjusting her combination when she heard a crash and the thud of a body on the floor of the sitting room. Without stopping to put on the dressing gown, she ran out. The table was knocked over and Mike lay on the floor breathing heavily.

"Out like a light," said Lil.

BUTTER KEEPS AS WELL IN PRINTS AS IN TUBS

The belief that butter for storage has to be put up in a large mass, usually 64-pound tubs, has been disproved in recent years by experiments which indicate that butter in 1-pound prints keep as well as that in tubs, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

BRILLIANT WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN C'STON FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 17

Charleston, June 18.—One of the most brilliant nuptial events of the season was the wedding of Miss Myrtle Goodin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Goodin of this city and George Wynn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith of Tiptonville, Tenn., which took place Friday evening, June 17th at the Goodin home on North Main Street. Rev. P. A. Kasey, pastor of the Methodist Church of this city performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends on the spacious lawn of the home where an improvised altar was arranged. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Jess Hall, lyric soprano, rendered "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "When Hearts Are Young" from "The Lady in Ermine." She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Moffat Latimer, who also played Mendelssohn's wedding march for the processional.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Vernon Goodin, was lovely in her wedding gown of silk chantilly lace over rich lustrous satin. The dress fashioned after the prevailing mode with high waisted bodice, round neck, had long full sleeves, terminating in elbow length cuff. Her veil of illusion and lace was arranged in cap shape and caught with orange blossoms. The veil fell to the ends of her long train and each end was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms.

She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Eleanor Richardson of Mt. Vernon, Ill., who served as maid of honor, was attractively gowned in pale yellow mousseline de soie, over taffeta.

Miss Sara Smith of Tiptonville, Tenn., sister of the groom, Miss Reid Hill of Little Rock, Ark., Miss Virginia Heggie and Mrs. Tom Byrd of this city served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of green mousseline de soie, fashioned like that of the maid of honor. Their sashes were yellow and carried arm bouquets of yellow snap dragons and orchid sweetpeas.

Little Misses Anne Goodin, sister of the bride, and Eddie Hill of Little Rock, Ark., served as flower girls.

The two ring bearers, Mary Ella Barbee of this city, and Mary Anne Smith of Bonne Terre, cousins of the bride, carried a tiny gold colored basket, decorated in a large calla lily, in which rested the wedding ring.

Harry Smith, of Tiptonville, Tenn., served as best man and the ushers were Hugh Swayne of Hickman, Ky., Willie B. Reeves and Prentiss Wynn of Tiptonville, and Sam Cox Goodin of this city, a brother of the bride. Each of the men wore buttonieres of lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and the three hundred guests present were served a delicious ice course in the colors of pink and white.

The wedding cake, a three tier cake, decorated in a miniature bride and groom, and surrounded by lovely spring flowers, formed a central decoration for the bride's table which was arranged on the lawn. During the reception, the guests viewed the large array of

Paramount Photo PAUL LUKAS

IT IS not easy to break through the somber reserve of Paul Lukas. Talk of golf or tennis or painting or books and you get a politely bored smile. But mention carburetors or allorons or altitude records and the conversation is saved. Flying has been his principal hobby since the World war, when he held a commission in the Hungarian Air Corps. Not only does he fly often and with professional skill but he can take an airplane engine apart and put it together again. He keeps abreast of mechanical progress in aviation. Scientific books and magazines are his favorite reading.

Second only to the airplane, the racing car is his dearest hobby. His own machine, built low with racing lines, may be seen almost daily, flashing along California speedways. Often the dignified Lukas features emerge from beneath the hood, streaked with oil and dirt.

handsome wedding gifts, which were arranged on tables in the reception rooms of the home.

The bride and groom left by motor for a wedding trip, keeping their destination a secret.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar White had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Donlin and son of Houston, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Farrin of Cairo and Mrs. F. P. White and son, Nolan, of Bertrand.

Dr. Kendig, surgeon at the Emergency Hospital, was confined to his home Tuesday with some sort of stomach disorder.

Mrs. Wesley Lair, of Charleston, who recently underwent an operation at the Emergency Hospital, was here Tuesday for observation. She is regaining her strength very nicely.

After reading a detective story in which the eyes of the murdered man retained a picture of his slayer, Deputy Sheriff C. T. Hargrove of Wilmington, N. C., decided to test out the possibilities of such a clue. When Richard Laceywell, a negro, was found shot to death, Hargrove had the dead man's eyes photographed. Enlargements revealed a clear image of Lyman Graham, another negro, Hargrove states. At any rate, when Graham was confronted with the picture he promptly confessed the murder, implicating Lewis Banks, who also confessed.

A Change For the Better

All our new furniture has been assembled on east side of ground floor. This enables us to use the west room of ground floor which is partitioned off, for the sale of reconditioned articles which have been traded in on new. Nothing in this section is offered for sale until it is put into good working order hence this new arrangement where everything may be seen easily and without climbing stairs should prove popular. There seems to be a good many customers looking for serviceable items at very small cost. This new department will be headquarters for that type of household goods.

Sparrows saved the day for little seven-year-old Glenna Joyce Grace, of Elmer, when she decided to surprise her mother who was at work at the bank, by baking a chocolate cake. Glenna Joyce looked for eggs and found they had all been used, but she wouldn't let that stop her. Some sparrows had a nest in the front porch roof at their home and she climbed up to the nest, secured the eggs and used them. The Elmer correspondent reports that her cake was of surprising light texture. It is determined people like Glenna Joyce that get through the world the best.—LaPlata Home-Press.
